It's that time again — The sign on the front of Old Town Hall exhorts voters to come to the Annual Town Meeting, which begins Monday at 7 p.m.

98 articles and counting

By Neil Fater

It may be more than 350 years old, but Andover continues to have growing pains, judging by the articles on this year's Town Meeting warrant.

Town Meeting begins Monday, April 26, continues Tuesday, April 27, and will continue again, after a break, on Monday, May 10.

That means that, next week, voters will begin diagnosing the proper treatment, if any, for what article supporters say ails expanding Andover.

Among other issues, Town Meeting voters will discuss whether to build new multi-million dollar facilities to handle the reported needs of a growing town, and to enact more restrictive bylaws to help slow future expansion.

In large part because of the increase in population during the past 20 years, residents will decide if they should:

- spend $12.9 million to nearly double the size of the existing public safety center;
- support a 30-year lease agreement with Phillips Academy so a private group can pay to turn former dormitory Williams Hall into Andover's new downtown-area senior center;

Phillips campaigns for major changes

By Rebecca Lipchitz

It has always been tough to get into Phillips Academy. But over the next several years, it will get even tougher. Phillips, one of the most exclusive independent high schools in the country, is going to become even more exclusive.

As part of a meticulously developed, long-range strategic plan, the school has begun one of the most ambitious fund-raising campaigns in the history of independent schools, while also cutting enrollment by nearly 15 percent, about 175 students, over a period of four or five years.

While fewer students will be admitted to the school, the 1,025 who are admitted will be better served, says Peter R. Ramsey, secretary of the academy.

The fund-raising effort, "Campaign Andover" aims to collect

Senior housing proposed

By Taylor Armerding

North Andover developer Louis Minicucci had tried some months ago to convince the Senior Center Building Committee and the Council on Aging that his five-acre property at Stevens and North Main streets would be the best place for a new senior center.

He didn't succeed at that. But Minicucci is still hoping to provide a community for seniors at that site.

Northpoint Realty Development Corp., whose principals are Minicucci, Thomas Laudani and attorney Thomas Kiley, presented a plan Tuesday night to the Board of Selectmen for a $25-million, 72-unit housing development for senior citizens that would include recreational facil-

A gnawing problem — Washington Park resident Doris Lindsay, and property manager Barbara Brady point to one of the trees next to the complex, and along the Shawsheen River, that hasn't fallen yet, but probably will, to local beavers' teeth.

Beaver battle lines drawn

The beavers are just doing what comes naturally.

But that, according to about 30 residents of the Washington Park Apartments complex, means that the natural environment along the Shawsheen River is being destroyed.

Property manager Barbara Brady and the residents estimate that a colony of beavers has chewed through anywhere from two dozen to as many as 100 trees along the banks of the Shawsheen. And Brady says she knows of no way to stop them.

"I tried the fox urine," she says, "but it doesn't really work unless you put the bottle right on the tree. And there is no way you can do the whole river bank."

She says trapping seems to be out of the question as well. State law has banned the use of leghold traps, "and I was told that another trapper around here got involved in a lawsuit. She says she tried calling the Andover Animal Control officer, but was told there was nothing they could do as well.

She and resident Doris Lindsay say they would love to see the problem handled as it was in Washington, D.C., where beavers that were cutting down some of the city's historic cherry trees were trapped and relocated to a remote area.

"But I suppose that means we'd only create a problem somewhere else," she says.

Lindsay says she has no desire to destroy the beavers, but admits, "It upsets me that we're protecting them with such enthusiasm. It takes years and years to grow a tree, and they can take it down in one night."

Residents also fear that removing the trees will lead to erosion along the riverbank.

Lindsay says she and fellow residents first began to notice beaver activity last spring, "but most of it was on the other side of the river. This year the damage is devastating. It's like an invasion."

None of the residents are aware of the beavers building a dam, and they say most of the trees are left where they fall.

The beaver controversy is not confined to Andover. Since the banning of the leghold traps, wildlife officials say the beaver population has more than doubled since 1996, from 24,000 to about 52,000.

But State Sen. Sue Tucker (D-Andover), a member of the Legislature's Natural Resources Committee, says she is opposed to bringing back the traps, and although there is a bill pending that would do that, she doesn't

News In Brief

Town assessor to leave

Andover town assessor Bill Krajeski has made an important new assessment — that it's time to leave Andover.

The ultra-accessible assessor says he's received an offer he can't refuse from Patriot Properties, the company that makes the software used by his office.

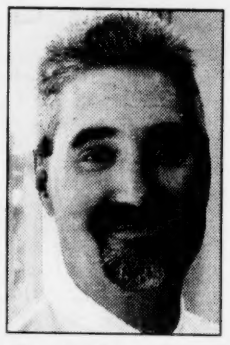

"It was really a career decision," he says. "It would be difficult (to stay) in government to continue to progress.

"I was paid very well, but I could see a future where I wasn't going to be paid much more than cost-of-living raises," he says. "It's the nature of government."

Krajeski will split time between Andover and his new job for another month or two, until Andover names his replacement. Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski expects a new assessor to come aboard in June.

During his nine years in Andover, Krajeski established a reputation as a friendly and accessible public servant. Stapczynski says he's set a high bar for his successor in terms of what is expected during tax classification and other presentations to selectmen.

"He really set a high-water mark for presentations to the board," says Stapczynski. "It's sad to see him go. He's a real pro and he did a fabulous job for the town. I've enjoyed my personal and professional relationship with him."

Krajeski — a better offer.

Krajeski says it will be difficult for him to leave the friends he's made here as well, and he lauds the professionalism of his fellow Andover employees.

"I have very much enjoyed my time here. It's a fine community. I really mean that," he says. "It seems like other places you go, are (run from) crisis to crisis to crisis. You don't get that here."

think it will pass. She knows it is a problem, however.

"In the past three weeks I've gotten three calls from different neighborhoods about this," she says, "and (Andover Conservation Agent) Jim Greer says there may be as many as 20 sites in Andover where this is a problem."

"It's definitely time to have a forum on this," she says, "to find out what the process is in dealing with it. The more I learn about this, the more I find out about how complicated it is. Beavers have become the poster animal for the war between trappers and animal rights groups."

Tucker says she will schedule a forum at Memorial Hall Library as soon as she can, and invite Greer and Erik Amati of the state Division of Fisheries and Wildlife.

"They're the real experts in this," she says.

A close Clinton call

More than 1,100 people who turned out for the U.S. Air Force Band of Liberty concert at the Collins Center last Friday night were apparently just a presidential order away from looking at a nearly empty stage.

A really big show — The Air Force Band of Liberty entertained huge crowds at the Collins Center over the weekend.

Andover Veterans Agent John Doherty, who introduced the band, says President Bill Clinton, who was flying in to Hanscom Field that evening for a private fund-raiser, had asked for the band to play at his arrival.

"He was supposed to come in around 5:30," Doherty says, "so they thought they'd have barely enough time to set up here, get back down there and play, and then get up here again."

But then the president's flight got delayed to 7:30 — a half hour afrter the Andover concert was scheduled to begin.

Doherty says the Air Force major in charge of the band says he feared he might have had to send a "skeleton crew" of about eight musicians to Andover, "to play who knows what, and he told me I might have had to do some stand-up comedy until the rest of them could get here.

"They would have been flying up Route 93 with a police escort.

"I'm just glad I didn't know about it until later," Doherty says. "It would have been a complete, unmitigated disaster."

But sometime during the afternoon, Lt. Gen. Ronald Kasich, commander of the Air Force Electronic Systems Command at Hanscom, told the band, "Go to Andover."

"I don't know exactly how it happened," Doherty says, "but I'm very glad it did."

Now he's a biker

After 14 years on the beat, Daniel Igoe is going to spend some time on a motorcycle seat.

Colleagues on wheels — Andover Patrolman Daniel Igoe (right) joins fellow officer Bob Cronin on the motorcycle beat.

Igoe has joined Bob Cronin as one of the town's two consistent motorcycle officers.

Igoe says he rode a motorcycle for a while in college, and is looking forward to his new assignment on the road. He took a 10-day, 48-hour course at Lawrence Airport with the Lawrence police department to train for the riding. Igoe had to pass a test with obstacles and high-speed and low-speed maneuvers.

Police say Igoe and Cronin will use motorcycles to enforce the traffic laws. In other words, you might see Igoe writing a ticket for you, if you're not careful.

But Igoe says, "Another good aspect about being on a bike is you're more open to the public, and people can approach you."

"I write the tickets, he's the community policing guy," jokes Cronin.

But police say they're not joking about using the more-easily hidden motorcycles to slow down drivers.

"We want people to adhere to the speed limits in the area. We're going to be strictly enforcing speed limits and the rules of the road," says Chief Brian Pattullo. "We have a lot of complaints from residents."

Wetlands protection bylaw back for one more try

By Rebecca Lipchitz

Town Meeting 1999

The Andover Conservation Commission is determined not to throw the bylaw out with the bath water, or in this case, the ground water.

A local wetlands protection bylaw that would give the ConsCom greater control over wetlands than state laws was defeated at Town Meeting last year. But ConsCom members have listened to residents' concerns and are returning with a new and improved version, Article 75, at Annual Town Meeting this year, says Commission Administrator Jim Greer.

The Planning Board voted Tuesday, April 6, to take no position on the article, but plans to make a statement at Town Meeting, they say.

One major change in this year's version of the bylaw is an exemption for homes that existed as of January 1999, or for lots on which a building permit had been issued by that time.

"There was a deep concern that it would unduly regulate private activity or micro-manage back yards," Greer says.

The new bylaw regulations would not apply to property of residents who are occupying their homes, or to property for which a building permit has been obtained as of January this year, Greer says.

It was designed to regulate commercial properties, new subdivisions and industrial developments. Such areas usually involve projects with large parking lots or other impervious areas, or large roof areas, all of which have a significant impact on water quality in town, unlike small backyard projects, he says.

The bylaw would allow the commission to regulate wetlands that directly affect Andover's water supply to a greater degree than state law provides.

"(State laws) are good, but not tailored for Andover. The commission thinks it would have a winning combination," Greer says.

Planning Board Chairman Michael Miller said after the vote April 6 that he is not convinced that there is a need for additional regulations beyond the state wetlands protection laws.

Board member Linn Anderson says she felt that disapproval of the bylaw was too strong a position, and would rather have the board qualify its opinion on the floor of Town Meeting.

Miller says he agrees with the portion of the bylaw that allows the ConsCom to hire a consultant in certain cases. "That seems to make sense," he says.

Planning Director Steve Colyer recommended to the board that they approve the article, and argues that the proposed bylaw is specific to Andover, and provides more than a duplication of state wetlands regulations.

"I have never considered myself to be fond of rules just for the sake of rules, and in that vein, I don't view the proposed bylaw as another layer of bureaucracy in a vertical stack, but rather as companion regulations on a lateral plane," Colyer told planners in a memo.

As developable land becomes less available in town, Colyer says the town is "continually faced with 'build to the edge' development proposals" that at times, come close to public water supply areas.

The collective mission of the Planning Department staff, Colyer says, is to ensure orderly growth; protect local natural resources; protect public health and "social wellness of all of the people"; and to ensure safety of residents through enforcement of state and local laws, bylaws and regulations.

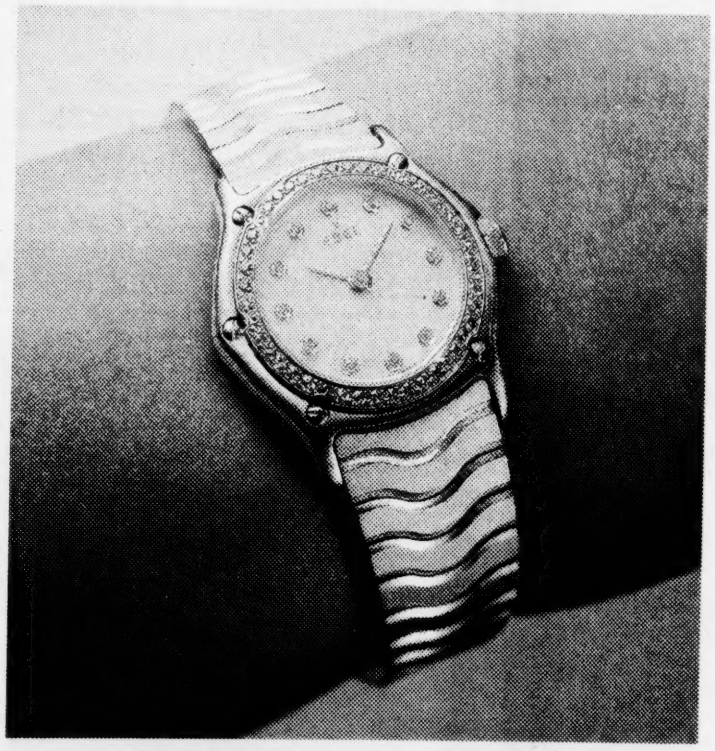

"In my opinion we need every tool we can get our hands on to effectively carry out our mission," he says.

While passage of the bylaw grants the commission the authority to establish regulations in the future, to avoid allowing future commissioners to run amok with such authority, the bylaw includes limits on any additional authority, Greer says.

Commission members worked with a consultant in setting those limits, he says.

Seniors push for center at Will Hall

By Neil Fater

After years of going back to the drawing board in its search for a new senior center site, perhaps it should be no surprise that the Council on Aging believes it's finally found its new home at a school.

The Council on Aging overwhelmingly supports the idea of leasing a former Phillips Academy dormitory called Williams Hall, so it can turn it into Andover's new senior center. Article 18 asks for the town to authorize the Board of Selectmen to enter into such a lease.

A private fund-raising group called Friends of Andover Seniors will raise the rest of the approximately $4 million needed to pay for the renovation and expansion of Will Hall. The lease would last 30 years with another 10-year option, and at the end of the lease, Will Hall could return to Phillips' control.

Seniors supporting the article like the site's location, size and accessibility from the downtown area, and believe it is a site for which the Friends can raise funds.

Construction will not start until all of the money needed has been raised.

Doreen Correnti, of the Friends, would not reveal how much of the estimated $4 million needed to build a new center has been raised so far. The town did approve $500,000 for the senior center project at 1997 Town Meeting.

"We will raise the money," says Correnti. "We have put together a very strong steering committee."

Supporters have also helped put together a Board of Selectmen that supports leasing Will Hall by a 3-2 vote, thanks to the defeat of former anti-lease selectman Bill Downs by Mary French.

Selectmen in favor of the lease like the location, and welcome a private fund-raising effort at a time when Andover is planning a number of other expensive projects.

But selectmen Larry Larsen and Lori Becker believe the lease arrangement is a bad business deal. They worry about whether there will be any space remaining in town for a new senior center in 30 years, if Phillips decides it does not want to extend the lease.

The lease itself couldn't be much cheaper for the first 30 years. The town will pay just $1 per year for those 30 years. If Phillips and the town extend the lease 10 more years, it will cost half what people are paying for a similar facility at that time. There will be language in the lease for a mediation process in case the town and Phillips can't agree on what represents a similar facility, says Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski.

"For me, it makes it a lot easier to know you can resolve the issue if there is a problem," he says.

The Council on Aging says an endowment fund will be created to make sure the town has a facility beyond the 30-year lease. Once the center is built, the town will be responsible for maintenance of the building, estimated to be about $150,000 per year.

IT'S JUST NOT RIGHT...

ARTICLE 34 at Town Meeting will ask voters to approve 65-foot light towers at the "lower field" in Andover's historic Shawsheen Village. We ask for your help in preserving this and other neighborhoods in Andover by voting "NO" on Article 34. Here's why:

The Town did not consult with the neighborhood about 65-foot high floodlights.

- At 1996 Town Meeting, Andover officials proposed improvements at the field, including "lighting and water for ice skating." A Town Meeting transcript reveals there was no mention of lights for night sports other than ice skating in winter. Shawsheen residents supported this proposal to restore lights for occasional winter skating.
- Immediately after Town Meeting, the Town ordered 65-foot towers and floodlights to surround the entire playing field for night sports three seasons of the year. The Town Manager informed us there were no plans for ice skating facilities at the field. Despite strong neighborhood opposition, Town leaders ordered the lights installed. Only legal action has prevented installation of the lights.

65-foot light towers for night sports would destroy the unique character of any Andover neighborhood.

- Other neighborhoods, too, may be the victims of similar treatment. At least one Selectman has already stated that the lights will be coming to other fields in Town.
- Shawsheen Village is a historic neighborhood that is especially sensitive to noise and light "spillover," which Lawrence Stadium type lighting would bring.

Is this how you want Andover government to operate?

- The residents of Shawsheen Village--and all of Andover--were deceived by Town officials at 1996 Town Meeting. Their actions were clearly misleading, if not illegal. They did it to our neighborhood; they could do it to yours.
- A vote on Article 34 is expected either Monday, April 26 or Tuesday, April 27.

Lights don't make right, says Shawsheen group

By Neil Fater

The speed of light is considerably slower than you might think — in Andover at least.

Three years ago, Town Meeting overwhelmingly supported making improvements to the Shawsheen fields, including installing lights. This year, the town again wants residents to support improving the same fields and installing lights there.

The reason for this double-take is because a group of Shawsheen residents sued the town to stop the installation of the 65-foot lights.

They argue that while the 1996 article approved by Town Meeting called specifically for "water and lighting for ice skating," the town illegally tried to light an entire soccer field with considerably larger lights.

Although selectmen and some residents say there was public discussion that the lights would not be just small lights for ice skating, even current Selectmen Chairman John Hess admits he can't find a reference to such a discussion in the 1996 Town Meeting minutes, or in any old newspaper articles.

Officials now return to Town Meeting with an article that clearly lays out what type of lights will be installed. Youth and adult sports fans saw — and still see — the larger lights as a chance to help ease the scheduling problems they have. For years, Andover teams say there has been a shortage of field space in town, and having a field available for a few more hours per day will be beneficial to the thousands who use town fields each year.

Lights out — Joanne and Tom Deso, Drexel Ace, Dave McDermitt, Carol Byrne, Ray Larney and Mary Hartnett hope voters reject lights at the Shawsheen soccer field.

But many people who live near the Shawsheen fields say the town deserves a yellow card for the way it tried to install the lights.

"We are happy to have (the article) back at Town Meeting, where the intent is clear, however we find it disturbing it had to get to this point. What they did was illegal. We called them on it, and now they're going back and covering their tracks and trying to make it right," says Shawsheen residents' spokesman Dave McDermitt.

McDermitt charges the town with drafting articles 62 and 63 to "rectify the illegal zoning aspect of it."

Besides Article 34, to amend the vote taken in 1996, the town has created two articles, 62 and 63, dealing with light poles and light-pole design standards.

Town Counsel Tom Urbelis has also said the court fight with Shawsheen residents is the reason the town has submitted Article 61, which seeks to strike the words "voted at town meeting" from an Andover zoning bylaw.

"This should be a warning to other neighborhoods in town that they need to keep a close eye on town government," says McDermitt.

ities plus a medical office building.

On the site now are four abandoned houses, one occupied house and the building Suburban Health formerly occupied.

Specifically, the plan calls for:

• 72 condominiums, including 62 two-bedroom units, with 11 of the total set aside for seniors with low or moderate incomes. Minicucci says the prices for the units will range from $250,000 to $300,000. He says they will all include fireplaces.

• A clubhouse or activity center that will include function rooms, a private dining room, billiards, an exercise room and library.

• A 65,000-square-foot medical office building. Minicucci says he has a letter of intent from Holy Family Hospital to occupy about 30,000 square feet of that space, to provide community-wide care, with specialties in geriatric care.

The other half of the building "will probably continue to be medical or other services, like physical therapy, that will cater to the elderly," he says.

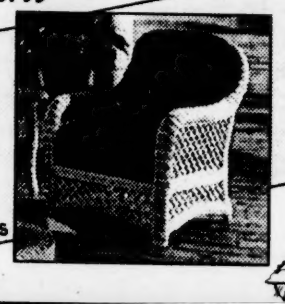

• A two-level parking facility that will be mostly underground. "You won't see much of it," he says, "so it works both from a convenience and an amenity point of view."

Minicucci, also owner of Minco Corp., says Northpoint is a separate entity.

He says there is no specific time schedule for completion of the project, since he has to bring the plan before various town boards, including the Conservation Commission and Planning Board, "and I'm sure we'll have some discussions with the Historical Commission."

Major decisions facing Town Meeting voters

Registered voters in Andover are being asked to be very active during the next several weeks — 98 votes worth of active at the Annual Town Meeting, to be precise.

And while dozens of those votes amount to important but routine business, there are a number that are anything but routine. Most of them call for spending big bucks.

That's not necessarily a bad thing. Government types are fond of calling any spending program an "investment," and while that is not always the case, we believe it is in the following instances:

Article 16 asks for up to $14 million for a new public safety center. Both the Board of Selectmen and the Finance Committee are recommending $12.9 million.

The need for the center is clear. As officials of those departments have demonstrated, the safety center itself isn't too safe. It should be a priority, and the current plan should see the town through at least the next couple of decades.

It also gives the selectmen appropriate flexibility in how to fund it.

Article 19 is the other "must" on the warrant, seeking about $2.5 million for architectural and engineering services in preparation for the construction of new elementary and middle schools at Cross Street and High Plain Road.

The need is obvious: Classrooms are crowded, not necessarily because enrollment has exploded (as a letter this week notes), but because we as a society have demanded so much more of our schools, including smaller class sizes, and a vast range of special services for disabled children.

The process leading to this proposal has been long, thorough and involved just about every group with an interest in the outcome of siting, cost and the types of schools.

Finally, selectmen, the FinCom and School Committee are all unanimously in support of it.

Articles 41-43, the other big-money requests, which call for sanitary sewers to be constructed on all or part of nearly 100 streets in town are, in our view, less urgent.

While the rate of septic failures are not below the average throughout town, as officials thought as recently as a week ago, $28 million is still a rather staggering sum.

Proponents have argued, and it is certainly true, that the cost of betterments will be less in many cases than having to replace a whole system. But that's assuming that everybody would have to replace their system, and the reality is that less than one in five will need to do so. This requires all users (including those on existing lines) to pay for the 15 percent or so whose systems might fail.

And, as some opponents have noted, there are increasingly creative, and less expensive, ways to solve sewer problems than simply running yet another line down the street.

Perhaps sewers will be necessary on some of the streets where lines are now proposed. But it would not hurt, and it could save significant money, to investigate alternatives for another year.

To be clear, this view does not apply to Article 20, which seeks funds for area residents to tie into a sewer line going to the proposed new schools. It clearly makes sense that, if the line is going to be there anyway, it might as well be accessible to homes as well as the schools.

Finally, another article doesn't ask for much in the way of money, but is still significant to the town's future.

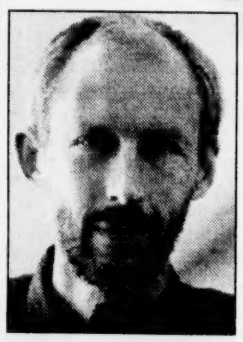

Article 18 would create what proponents believe will be the Senior Center of the future at Williams Hall on the Phillips Academy campus. By now, the advantages of such a choice have been well stated — and continue to be well stated on the Letters page.

It is close to the downtown. A 30-year lease will cost all of $30. The Friends of the Andover Senior Center Inc. will raise the $4.2 million for construction. The town will pay only operating and maintenance expenses.

There is little disagreement that elderly residents need a new senior center. But people of good faith, including some selectmen, think the Phillips proposal simply isn't the best for either the seniors or the town.

We agree. A proposed lease has not yet been made public, and as was recently made clear in the case of a child-care operation, the whole arrangement gives an uncertain future to senior services. The building will never belong to the town, which could easily find itself without a senior center in three decades, right at the time when the boomer generation will still be crowding such facilities.

Making the millennium baby? Please, spare us the details

Taylor Armerding

I'm about to commit journalistic heresy. I know I'm supposed to defend the reporting of anything and everything, no matter if it may have automatically been consigned to the realm of privacy in an earlier, less enlightened era.

We now live in a time when it is commonplace to all leer with communal recognition at the mere mention of a stained dress or cigars, because we've read so much about their "special" meanings in the mainstream media.

Anyone who tries to resist this trend is encouraged to look at the ratings for The Jerry Springer Show, Hard Copy, or any number of other voyeuristic, confessional versions of news.

You want people to pay attention to your paper, your magazine, your news program? Then you'd better forget about that dry, deadly stuff like government, education or religion, and get with the good stuff — you know, things like siblings who cheat with one another's spouses.

If somebody's standing in the street with an open raincoat, you take their picture first, and call the cops later.

So in light of all that, I guess it is indeed heretical to get the least bit lathered up over the recent splash of coverage on the making of the "Millennium Baby."

It's not that having the first baby of the new millennium isn't a pretty great, and newsworthy, thing. It is. I don't even mind taking note of the fact that one particular recent day was, in theory, "conception day" for any couple hoping to have a child at the dawn of the Year 2000.

But I still maintain that there was no need for the mini-avalanche of interviews with hopeful couples the day after, asking them all how it had gone. I'm betting you could easily have lived without it as well.

One of the local channels, after showing footage of various hotels that had offered rooms to the various "contestants," had an alleged reporter interview several of them.

"How did it go?" asked the reporter, failing to hide a smirk.

The couple were lounging on a sofa, both in bathrobes. He looked like Ken. She looked like Barbie. She had just washed and styled her hair, and liberally applied makeup. His bathrobe was open enough to show off his chest. His hair was dark and freshly oiled.

"It went very well," she said, arching an eyebrow. "Very well."

There was an awkward pause. There were more smirks on both sides.

Cut to a second couple, looking slightly less manicured.

"How many times did you try?" the reporter asked.

"Six and a half," she replied.

"Six and a half?" he asked.

"Yes," she said with a racy little smile. "We got interrupted once."

Cut to the he-and-she anchor team, struggling to maintain their composure.

"Thanks for that report, Steve, and good luck to all the participants," he said. They went immediately to commercial.

Not only does this fall deeply into the category of things we really don't need to know, it also plays it like some kind of a sporting event, as if we're in the middle of a Woody Allen movie, except in that case we and he all know it's supposed to be a satire.

This is no joke. These people are quite serious. After all, the stakes are huge. There is big money and big fame awaiting those who produce the first baby of the millennium.

And that is another thing that makes me wish it would all just go away. This is no longer a case of letting nature take its course, and of celebrating with a couple who happen to welcome a new child at a special moment in history.

No, we can't stand to let nature take its course. Somebody else might get ahead of us. This is a frantic, manipula-

Government is far too intrusive

Editor, Townsman:

We desperately need to redefine the role of town government in Andover. Our town government over-relies on the property tax, and the notion that government should provide from cradle to grave, via executive privilege to our paychecks — with no accountability in managing our tax dollars.

I believe the primary function of government is to provide for the health and safety of its citizens, while remaining unintrusive, small, and limited in scope. Secondly, our government should encourage and promote individual responsibility — a characteristic it currently lacks. For example, the town has petitioned taxpayers to fund a $91-million budget and numerous projects in the warrant, while refusing to disclose the minutes of secret meetings regarding the high school project. This is an insult to the taxpayers who voted for this project in good faith.

In 1992, an article was submitted to request a management audit of the Department of Public Works and the Department of Municipal Maintenance. The purpose of the request was to attempt to control the excessive tax-and-spend, crisis-management policies of this administration in order to satisfy selective special interest groups in town. Unfortunately, the article was defeated on the recommendation of the selectmen and Finance Committee.

The Board of Selectmen and Finance Committee need to explain, justify and convince the taxpayers now that a 78-percent tax increase in recent years, a budget that between 1992-2000 increased from $55 to $91 million and the possibility of a $163 million budget in 2010 (based on a 6-percent increase per year) is the end result of sound management.

Municipal maintenance was finally audited in 1993 through a request by the School Committee. The findings were astonishing, and certainly lend support and justification for future audits of town departments. Free cash should be used to finance management audits, in order to bring about more efficiency in the delivery of services and lower taxes.

In conclusion, failure to act now will have a devastating effect on the affordability of living in Andover for the majority of its taxpayers in the not too distant future.

The town manager's contract is up for renewal soon. A new town manager and a reorganization of town departments could bring about fiscal stability and a reasonable tax rate for those of us willing to remain in Andover. The odds of that happening are unlikely. Andover officials will probably continue business as usual as they drive most of us out of town, unless the selectmen begin the search for a new town manager.

Not nearly enough answers on proposed sewer projects

Editor, Townsman:

What initially began as concern regarding the proposed two sewer articles has increased to alarm as more information becomes available for town meeting attendees.

We are being asked to approve roughly $30 million for projects that, at the time of review before the Finance Committee, were only 25-30 percent designed. We were originally told that the reason these projects were necessary was because of very high failure rates of septic systems in these areas. Planning dollars were approved at last year's town meeting because of that.

After some preliminary investigation, this turns out not to be true. In fact, failure rates in these areas are lower than other areas of town. Another fact not generally mentioned is that more than 60 percent, and possibly as high as 70 percent, of these failures are due to either homeowner neglect or abuse of the system. Any system will eventually fail under these circumstances.

I'm distressed by the lack of personal responsibility shown by some of these homeowners who, by some accounts, know they have a failed system but are waiting for the current rate payers to pick up part of their costs through these two projects, while complaining about the health and safety of their families.

I'm also appalled that the current rate payers are to bear the entire cost of these projects for up to five years, until the construction is completed, while the homeowners in the newly sewered area pay nothing. Betterments will not begin until all sections of these two projects are finished.

This inevitably means the current users pay 100 percent of the costs during construction while the debt service is highest (unless all of the contractors are willing to delay receiving payment). How much more than 33 percent will we really pay for these sewers?

Any homeowner who needs to "pump up" to make his connection to the sewer will only be charged 50 percent of his betterments. Who pays the other 50 percent? Who pays for those granted hardship status or for the section of the sewer that goes through the bird sanctuary?

The most worrisome question is, what happened to the replacement of the main sewer that was listed in the Capital Improvement Program for many years as a priority 2 item, and which has disappeared from this document since these projects became a priority?

If these articles fail at town meeting, Everett Penney, director of Public Health, has stated they are already discussing tighter septic system controls such as more inspections and mandating annual pumping, which other communities have already begun. Until recently, inexpensive alternatives to entire new system replacements were not available. Now they are.

You should know a great deal of my knowledge of how septic systems work (even though I'm on sewer) is because my fiancee is a Title V inspector and has a pumping business. Lest you think my concerns are for personal benefit, you should also know I have written and spoken out on town meeting issues for many years and attended hundreds of meetings, and this is a continuation of that pattern. As a fiscal conservative, I'll always be interested in how our money is spent and what the implications of increased taxes do to all the citizens.

For me, these projects have simply had too little in-depth discussion. Listening to a presentation by Mr. (Bob) McQuade, although well done as always, and agreeing to it does not substitute for the hard questions that have not been asked such as "are these projects really in the best interests of our town?"

Chris Holmes

Spending will drive us out of town

Editor, Townsman:

Where are the total cost estimates?

Look in the Andover Townsman or in your warrant book. Numerous projects are being proposed for funding: two new schools, multiple sewer projects, a new safety center, etc. All of these projects cost lots of money and will be paid for in tax dollars or assessments.

Yet we are coming to Town Meeting without a complete summary of total costs and what a typical Andover resident will be paying in taxes if these projects are approved.

And what about added assessments for those living along the road where a sewer or new sidewalk runs? Take a figure of $500 per foot multiplied by the number of feet of roadway that happens to be in front of your home.

Calculate this figure, divide by 20, add in interest and add it to your taxes already increasing for all these proposed capital projects, plus another 6 percent to 7 percent annually for town and school operating budgets. A total tax and fee increase in the vicinity of 50 percent is likely.

What it tells me is that the elderly like me, living on a fixed income, are going to be driven out of Andover over the next five years, if not sooner. And it is not only the elderly that are affected, many middle-income residents will be driven out too.

And what if the economy tanks due to Y2K, a worldwide crisis or just a major slowdown in an economy that will not run forever as anyone over the age of 35 knows and has experienced? What if residents start becoming unemployed or underemployed like the 1980s, property values plummet and people are left holding the bag with a high mortgage or home equity loan, plus having to pay much higher taxes and sewer fees?

I cannot believe the apathy of so many citizens about our beautiful town that I have lived in my whole life of more than 70 years. It is time people woke up and took a look at all the waste in our schools and town government and stopped just reading the controlled information distributed in schools, on cable TV and in the papers.

The sad thing is, these boondoggles are not necessary. Adding portables to classrooms is unthinkable in Andover, but done in Lexington to solve a temporary student bubble. So we are going to build no less than two schools at Cross Street. And how is that we still don't have a cost figure for all the related site work, new sewer for the new schools, road improvements and new sidewalks. How does all this spending do anything for improving the quality of education in the town of Andover?

Elderly, middle-aged and young adults, rich or poor, I ask all of you to come to Town Meeting on all three nights to vote down all this wasteful spending article by article, until we get honest answers to total costs and the impact on our taxes and fees.

Vote to maintain Andover's reputation

Editor, Townsman:

My husband and I moved to Andover four years ago with our then 10-month-old daughter because of the superb reputation of the school system. Now that our oldest is about to start first grade at West Elementary, and our youngest daughter is two years away from kindergarten, we're very interested in seeing Articles 19 and 20 pass this year.

We want our daughters to have the maximum benefit that the Andover school system can offer, and from what we've been hearing, having band classes in hallways is not giving anyone the maximum benefit.

Clearly the two new schools are needed so Andover can meet the educational needs of all current and future students. While I fully expect to see many of my fellow preschool parents at Town Meeting, I did want to remind everyone the importance of the new schools, regardless of the age of your children: Students that are in the higher elementary school grades and up, while not directly benefiting from the lack of crowding at the elementary and middle school, will benefit indirectly when they apply to college.

The additional two schools will maintain Andover's reputation as a superb school district. That has an impact in college admissions. All homeowners will benefit since school reputation plays a huge role in the town's reputation, and has a direct impact on property values. Andover property values have enjoyed a steady appreciation over the years, and will continue to do so if we invest in the schools now.

The School Committee has done an excellent job researching the long-term space needs and developing the best solution. Now it's up to each of us on April 26th. GO to Town Meeting, and VOTE YES for Articles 19 and 20.

Support senior center at town meeting

Editor, Townsman:

Monday, April 26, at 7 p.m., Andover voters will gather for Town Meeting at the Andover High School field house on Shawsheen Road. We urge them to vote for Article 18, one of the many important issues to be addressed. This article will allow the town to negotiate a lease with Phillips Academy for the use of Williams Hall as a Senior Center.

We desperately need a new facility, not only for current services but to provide for future needs. This site meets the criteria established by the Senior Center Building Committee and the Council ofnAging, particularly for its central location, excellent parking capacity and room for future expansion. It will not remove land from the tax rolls of the town nor infringe upon future expansion plans of the schools or public safety departments.

We additionally wish to remind town residents and officials that we are not asking for taxpayer money. Cost for the lease, $1 per year for 30 years) and construction and renovation costs (about $4.2 million) will be paid by the Friends of Andover Senior Center Inc.

Town Meeting of 1997 allocated $500,000 for the feasibility study, architect fees and other costs related to starting the project. The Friends Inc. are committed to provide additional funding beyond the 30-year period.

The increase in maintenance and operating costs, which are built into the annual town budget, will be minimal, impacting each household by only pennies a day. The end result will be a state-of-the-art Senior Center, which will benefit elders and the community for very little impact on the town budget or individual taxpayer.

This is a wonderful gift to the town. Please come to Town Meeting on Monday, April 26. Support Article 18 and the other important issues before us. Transportation from the Andover Commons and the senior housing facilities will be provided for those needing it. You must sign up through the Senior Center at 623-8321 by Friday, April 23.

We'll see you at Town Meeting.

Stop industrial creep

Editor, Townsman:

We are writing to oppose Article 49. We would like to address our opposition both as town citizens and as concerned neighbors of this zoning change.

It is our view that this article represents a first step towards industrial creep in West Andover from Tewksbury. Thus far our town has been very successful in curtailing industrial development in the Routes 93/133 and Routes 495/133 interchanges. Andover has shown great planning and foresight in attracting good industrial neighbors, and has zoned them in such a way as to lessen their impact in our neighborhoods. Currently much of the land in these areas is zoned SRC.

The industrial sprawl has already taken place on the Tewksbury side of the Routes 495/133 interchange. We do not think that it is a stretch to say that this development, to be kind, is less than attractive. We urge those who have not been there for a while to take a drive. We are confident that you will be surprised.

This article addresses neighboring land in Andover that is zoned SRC. The owner of the land in question owns at least 120 acres that lie north of Route 495. The proposal may be amended on the floor of Town Meeting to reduce the requested zoning change to a lot size of 26 acres. We believe that rezoning this land, or even a small section of this land, would set a very bad precedent. We encourage town voters to say no to this article. There is much more at stake here than the land in question. There is also land south on Route 133 that borders the Ames Pond area that is undeveloped and is zoned SRC.

In opposition to this article we offer the following points:

• Traffic in the area will only get worse. If you travel on Route 133 during any commute hours, you will undoubtedly run into terrible traffic. Those who already do so understand exactly what we are talking about.

• Voters living on or near the following streets ought to be aware that their streets may be used as shortcuts to the industrial growth here. Some of you already experience the effects of the Tewksbury/IRS/Raytheon traffic.

- Osgood Street
- Brown Street
- Bellevue Street
- Cross Street
- Forest Hill Drive
- High Plain Road
- Haggetts Pond Road
- Rutgers Road

All these streets are shortcuts to this area. As an example, morning commuters driving south on 93, who want to avoid the Raytheon traffic, may wish to exit further north (e.g. River Road). Those driving northbound on Route 93 may wish to exit on Dascomb Road and approach the area that way. The reverse holds true during the evening commute.

Keep in mind that the development in Tewksbury is far from over. There are some frightening plans for further development in Tewksbury, and there is not a whole lot we can do about it. There is something we can do about this on the Andover side of the border.

• Environmental impact includes the following:

• Noise pollution (less trees + more cars = more noise from the traffic. Consider the snow season when parking lots are cleared at 3 a.m.

• The sky glow from industrial building and parking lot illumination reduces star visibility.

• There are no guarantees as to what will be built on this land. Once this is rezoned, developers are free to build whatever, as long as it is consistent to that zoning bylaw. If any wetland protection were to be relaxed (and make no mistake about it, there is an assault on wetlands throughout the country), then further development can be planned. Access to and from Haggetts Pond Road is not an unthinkable outcome. It is not a stretch of the imagination to hear future advocates ask for Haggetts Pond Road access to alleviate traffic on Lowell Street. It is not unthinkable that the state would wish to widen Route 133 from Route 495 to Route 93, since it is a state road.

• Rezoning this land will undoubtedly pressure other neighboring land. Rationale used by the developers can (and has been) used again and again.

• There should be consideration on how the traffic outflow will impact the proposed new schools on Cross Street.

The developer of this property would like you to believe that this land is unsuitable for residential development. In fact, a preliminary plan for residential development was not viewed favorably by our Planning Board. The board is not unfavorable towards residential development per se, but opposed the specific plan itself. We believe that residential development can be achieved with the developer working with the Planning Board and Conservation Commission.

In closing, we ask the voters to back our strong and capable Planning Board. Unlike Tewksbury's board, we can be proud of our board in controlling inappropriate growth in Andover. Please support us and our board in voting no on Article 49.

Andover needs new schools

Editor, Townsman:

An affirmative vote on Warrant Article 19 is imperative to accommodate the increasing numbers of children attending the Andover schools. We are in full support of this measure, and urge citizens and parents to attend Town Meeting on April 26 to help provide the two-thirds majority vote needed to pass this important article.

As parents of children attending the Andover schools (Shawsheen and West Elementary), we can attest first-hand both to the quality of the staff and to the desperate need for additional space. The schools are already overcrowded, and every closet and cubbyhole is being utilized as teaching space. At West El, art classes are even conducted in the cafeteria. Portable classrooms are already being used at Bancroft and Sanborn.

We have been impressed with the creativity of the teachers and other school staff to provide quality educational experiences for our children, given the far less than ideal working conditions. However, as a town, we must respond now. Even given approval of the funds for architectural and engineering services this year, the new schools would not be available for use until at least 2002.

In order to meet the increasingly high expectations placed upon school staff given the requirements of Ed Reform and the MCAS testing, classes must be smaller and appropriate space and materials must be made available. This cannot be done without new schools. A quality school system is everyone's concern, not just parents'. The whole town benefits from the skills of a well-educated citizenry, and property values are greatly affected by the quality of the school system.

We know that many hours have gone into conducting a thorough study of enrollment projections and housing options. We urge people to read the information available regarding this article, to call School Committee members or the school department with their questions. It is vital for the benefit of everyone in town for people to make an informed choice at Town Meeting. Andover needs new schools.

Town doesn't need two new schools

Editor, Townsman:

How much school space is enough?

For two to three years, the town and school departments have been beating the drum for new schools. There is one big problem; student population figures don't support their case, unless there have been some major demographic shifts in Andover that defy statewide and national trends of an aging population.

To set matters straight before Town Meeting is asked to vote on two, not one, new schools in Article 19, I recommend that the Townsman publish some important facts:

1. Student census today in our schools in grades K-12.

2. How this student census has changed by grade over the past couple of years, and the last 10 to 20 years?

3. What assumptions is the town making about growth in student census?

Our town's newcomers will probably be surprised to learn that 1,000 more students attended Andover's schools 20 years ago. And less space was used then, since the high school wasn't expanded and two elementary schools hadn't been expanded. And the town's school system was then rated in the top 10 in the state.

What gives? The mansionization of Andover isn't creating a baby boom, as bigger homes come with fewer children, who often go to private school anyway. The town's and school department's arguments about a need for two schools do not jive with these realities. We don't need classroom space for 1,000 students.

Buildings cost money, plain and simple, for the capital costs to build them and the operating and administrative costs to run them. And two buildings cost a lot more to run than one.

I don't have a crystal ball to predict student population, but then again, neither does the school department. The prudent course in view of this uncertainty and our need to control costs and taxes with so many demands in this year's warrant articles is to build one elementary school at Cross Street while clearing the site for a middle school down the road if it is needed. In the meantime, we can have some extra ball fields so sorely needed.

When I saw USA Today's headlines this week, "Lower Birth Rate Drains Labor Pool," it again hit me as to the needless high risk we are taking planning to build two schools at Cross Street.

I propose Town Meeting vote for schools and space, not an over-scaled project that will promises to bleed the town in operating and administrative costs. Article 19 should be voted down, or amended to restrict spending to one elementary school only.

New schools could bring sewer to West Andover

By Rebecca Lipchitz

The construction of two new schools in West Andover could really put a drain on homes in the neighborhood, since it could also come with sewer service to some area residents.

Article 19 asks voters to approve $2,517,000 for architectural and engineering services to create plans for new middle and elementary schools at Cross Street and High Plain Road. The plan would including sidewalks and sewers to serve the schools.

Article 20 asks for $250,000 for design and engineering costs to allow neighbors of the new school to tie into that new sewer line.

If voters do not pass Article 19 at Town Meeting, Article 20 would be withdrawn, Public Works Director Robert McQuade says, since there would be no main sewer line to which neighboring homes could attach.

The sewer line for the new schools would run from the school site to a "trunk line" near Hewlett Packard on Minuteman Road and the Merrimack River.

Part of the engineering study in Article 19 would be to determine the best possible route for the sewer between the trunk line and the school site, which would probably be either along Cross Street or along Forest Hills Drive, McQuade says.

"We're going to take the easiest and least costly way to get to the school," McQuade says.

Article 20 would allow residents in the Fish Brook watershed area to connect to the sewer, including residences on a portion of Launching Road, and on Mercury Circle, Apollo Circle, Gemini Circle, Forest Hills Drive, Aspen Circle, Bittersweet Lane, Wintergreen Circle, Deerbury Circle, Brierwood Circle, Sandalwood Lane, Pepperidge Circle, Alpine Drive, Sugarbush Lane, Brady Loop and Monahan Lane.

Meanwhile, an earlier plan to apply to the state for funding toward the sewer portion of the school project is circling the drain. Construction Project Manager David Harding says that the state would only reimburse the town for a sewer line if it were dedicated to specifically serving the school, and not available to private homes.

While the possibility of applying for state School Building Assistance Bureau money for that part of the project hasn't been officially rejected, Harding says the idea is falling out of favor locally. He would not say if the town might be able to seek other sources of state money.

Town Meeting begins Monday, April 26, and Tuesday, April 27, at 7 p.m. at the field house in Andover High School on Shawsheen Road. If the meeting is continued, it would resume Monday, May 10, in the Collins Center at the high school.

Phillips launches 'Campaign Andover'

$200 million over four years, to be complete by June 30, 2002.

When it comes to fund raising, PA leaders hope their philosophy that "the virtue of Non Sibi (not for self) as the key to the great and real business of living," is instilled in their wealthiest of alumni.

But PA is counting on more than generosity of alumni. They're counting on the resourcefulness of Ramsey, who raised $168 million in a campaign for Wellesley College, where he worked for over 10 years before coming to Phillips, the largest fundraising campaign of its kind at the time.

Since then, the largest fund raising at educational institutions has been done by Amherst College, at $200 million, and Vassar, at more than $200 million, Ramsey says.

When he left Wellesley for Phillips, a smaller school, he caught a bit of flack, he says.

"Most people thought I was crazy, but this is one of those special places. And it was OK once my Exeter family men blessed it," Ramsey says, as the son and brother of Phillips Exeter Academy graduates.

Ramsey can vouch for the value of connections in fund raising, but there is more to it than that, he says.

Phillips Academy renovated Corchran Chapel, above, last year as part of a detailed plan to maintain campus, provide more for fewer students, and launch an ambitious fundraising campaign led by Secretary of the Academy, Peter R. Ramsey, of Andover.

"Giving is about confirming and validating. This country is well served by philanthropy, by people affirming and validating what they believe in," Ramsey says, citing the success of non-profits like the American Cancer Society or the National Association for Schizophrenia and Depression, formed by small groups of people and furthered by a passion for the cause.

Ramsey seems to have that kind of passion for PA, and believes more people are influenced by what the school does when they decide to give to Phillips.

He cites the leadership of Head of School Barbara Landis Chase as a catalyst for a new, focused approach to the life of the school and enthusiasm in giving.

Reducing enrollment would improve student life by keeping student-teacher ratios low, (about one to six), provide for more supervision in the dormitories and more individual attention from faculty, in and out of the classroom.

"We would like life in the dorms to be a little less like life in a dorm," Ramsey says.

The dorms, which house 40 students each, are also home to a faculty member. The planned renovation, as part of the overall plan, would put three faculty apartments in each dorm, giving students more guidance and supervision.

Reducing enrollment also helps keep tuition and the cost of maintaining campus down, Ramsey says. For example, the science center would only have to be renovated, rather than replaced, if the student body is reduced, he says.

But the decision to reduce enrollment was driven by programmatic decisions.

Years ago, school administrators were concentrating on academics and the business of running a school, not on the quality of dormitory life. But more is known today about psychological development, Ramsey says, which encouraged some programmatic changes to give students more attention.

"Parents love it, and even kids sometimes admit they want guidance, deep down. They want mentors," he says.

And faculty want to be mentors, especially to Phillips students. If you think enrolling as a student is competitive, try getting a job there.

Of the 217 member faculty, five were hired last year, says Director of Communications Sharon Britton. For PA, five is an unusually high number of positions to be open within a year, she says. They received more than 600 applications, several hundred of which were for unsolicited positions. Positions in the history and English departments drew more than 100 applications each, Britton says.

Last year, PA reviewed 2,327 applications from students, admitted 518 (22 percent), and matriculated 342 students (about 14 percent).

While about one in four students who apply to Phillips is admitted, about one of every 100 applicants for teaching positions is hired. But once you're in, you're in.

"This is a way of life," Britton says, and adds that faculty turnover is low. The package deal for most instructors at Phillips includes housing and a pension in addition to salary ranging between the upper $20,000 range to more than $60,000, Ramsey says.

Meanwhile, the list of schools where Phillips grads are further educated is becoming more and more diverse. Forty years ago, 90 percent of PA graduates went on to Harvard, Yale or Princeton, Ramsey says, while this year, students from Phillips are attending schools including Bates, Colby, Northwestern and Duke. Last year only 24 students, or about 2 percent of the class, enrolled at Harvard, while 13 students went Brown, 16 to Columbia, 18 to Yale and 14 to U. Penn.

The school also boasts a high acceptance rate itself. About 66 percent of the students admitted choose to come to Phillips. Of the students who chose other schools over Phillips, some say the school seemed a bit too large, giving planners another reason for the school to reduce enrollment, Ramsey says.

was featured at a national conference on planning for educational change, Britton says.

The plan calls for raising $200 million, and is divided in to four parts, or "four cornerstones of the surest foundation."

• The first part includes $110 million in new endowment to keep the price of tuition down and keep faculty salaries "growing in real terms, faster than inflation," Ramsey says. Tuition is $23,650 a year for boarding students, $18,200 for day students. Britton says 40 percent of students now receive some type of scholarship from the school, with an average award of $15,600. About 10 percent of students are on full scholarship, she says. New endowment would support teaching ($35 million) financial aid and scholarships ($35 million), educational outreach and museums ($10 million), campus preservation ($10 million) and unrestricted endowment ($20 million).

• The second part addresses a crumbling campus by spending $40 million on immediate campus renewal and capital improvements, including the recent renovation to the Cochran Chapel, in which a balcony was added so that all students could gather in one place. It also calls for construction of a new hockey rink.

• The third part of the plan puts $10 million toward "innovation," including $3 million to complete the campus computer network and $1 million for professional development.

• Part four puts $40 million toward "current use gifts," $35 million of which goes to the Andover Fund's unrestricted gifts distributed by trustees and specific gifts from donors for faculty compensation, financial aid, scholarships, academic programs, campus and grounds. Another $5 million is devoted to educational outreach programs, such as the PALS (Phillips Academy Leonard School) project.

The first year of Campaign Andover, the "quiet phase," quietly amassed $90 million, $60 million of which has been collected, Ramsey says. Of the $90 million promised so far, $40 million came from trustees of the school, he says.

With $110 million in pledges to go, the school kicks off the not-so-quiet phase of Campaign Andover this weekend with celebrations including talks on enlarging the mind, learning from successful alumni, excellence in academics and the vigor of community life, along with tours, dinners, luncheons and brunches.

Calling all local World War II veterans lacking high school diplomas...

School Superintendent Claudia Bach, the Andover School Committee and the Veterans Services Office are looking for men and women, specifically former students at Punchard High School who had to leave school short of obtaining their diplomas to perform military service during World War II.

If you left Punchard High for active duty military service between Dec. 7, 1941, and August 1945 without obtaining your diploma, you are entitled to receive that sheepskin now. Eligible veterans should call John Doherty at 623-8218 without delay, to be included in this year's Andover High graduation.

Doherty Middle School's cafeteria was transformed into a career opportunities fair for the 250 eighth-graders who participated in the annual Career Day event March 25.

Twenty-three professionals, including several Doherty parents, spent the morning talking with students about their work and answering such questions as: How did you decide on your career? What training and education are needed? Do you really enjoy your work?

Presenters actively involved students in hands-on learning about many possible career paths as they clustered around tables displaying the various tools of the trade – architectural plans, lab equipment, fabric swatches and color palettes, Central Artery transportation plans and flight plan maps.

Area participants in Career Day were Carla Friedrich from Lawrence Savings Bank; Jo-De Gentile, human resource specialist at Genzyme Corp.; Fran Booth, clinical social worker; Jessica Barnett, public relations; Thea Shappiro, graphic artist; Thomas Sabbagh, union electrical worker; Cassandra Petrakas, news reporter with The Eagle-Tribune; Mary Donahue, recreation department; Elaine Doucette, travel agent from AAA Merrimack Valley; Officer Cecilia Blais from Andover Police Department; Andrew Zelewski, architect; Kathleen Bodman, attorney with Devine, Millimet and Branch; George Fischer, engineer of jet engines at General Electric; Pat Hanna, engineering/marketing; Sandy Bedrosian, performing artist and private voice instructor; John Zannini, Merrimack College piano and keyboard instructor; Jennifer Higgins and Patrick Tufts, social services, United Way of Merrimack Valley; Jennifer Sanborn, interior decorator; Robert Stoetzel, transportation planner with Central Artery Project; Dr. Lynn Batchelder, chemist with Cambridge Isotope Lab Inc.; Constance Scanlon, nurse/health educator; Tom Shannon, pilot with Northwest Airlines.

Joe Gallager, scout executive with the Boy Scouts of America, worked with Doherty eighth-grade teachers to plan and coordinate the event.

Calling all local World War II veterans lacking high school diplomas...

School Superintendent Claudia Bach, the Andover School Committee and the Veterans Services Office are looking for men and women, specifically former students at Punchard High School who had to leave school short of obtaining their diplomas to perform military service during World War II.

If you left Punchard High for active duty military service between Dec. 7, 1941, and August 1945 without obtaining your diploma, you are entitled to receive that sheepskin now. Eligible veterans should call John Doherty at 623-8218 without delay, to be included in this year's Andover High graduation.

Doherty Middle School's cafeteria was transformed into a career opportunities fair for the 250 eighth-graders who participated in the annual Career Day event March 25.

Twenty-three professionals, including several Doherty parents, spent the morning talking with students about their work and answering such questions as: How did you decide on your career? What training and education are needed? Do you really enjoy your work?

Presenters actively involved students in hands-on learning about many possible career paths as they clustered around tables displaying the various tools of the trade – architectural plans, lab equipment, fabric swatches and color palettes, Central Artery transportation plans and flight plan maps.

Area participants in Career Day were Carla Friedrich from Lawrence Savings Bank; Jo-De Gentile, human resource specialist at Genzyme Corp.; Fran Booth, clinical social worker; Jessica Barnett, public relations; Thea Shappiro, graphic artist; Thomas Sabbagh, union electrical worker; Cassandra Petrakas, news reporter with The Eagle-Tribune; Mary Donahue, recreation department; Elaine Doucette, travel agent from AAA Merrimack Valley; Officer Cecilia Blais from Andover Police Department; Andrew Zelewski, architect; Kathleen Bodman, attorney with Devine, Millimet and Branch; George Fischer, engineer of jet engines at General Electric; Pat Hanna, engineering/marketing; Sandy Bedrosian, performing artist and private voice instructor; John Zannini, Merrimack College piano and keyboard instructor; Jennifer Higgins and Patrick Tufts, social services, United Way of Merrimack Valley; Jennifer Sanborn, interior decorator; Robert Stoetzel, transportation planner with Central Artery Project; Dr. Lynn Batchelder, chemist with Cambridge Isotope Lab Inc.; Constance Scanlon, nurse/health educator; Tom Shannon, pilot with Northwest Airlines.

Joe Gallager, scout executive with the Boy Scouts of America, worked with Doherty eighth-grade teachers to plan and coordinate the event.

Second-place trophies were won by Sharon Yacubowicz, 9, of Andover, and Kathryn Sawyer, 12, of Lowell. Third-place trophies were awarded to Shirley Yacubowicz, 12, of Andover, and Kevin Sughrue, 8, of Methuen. Other team members were Leon Fay, 13, Torey Nicholson, 13, and Crosby Nicholson, 5, all of Andover, and Rick Silk, 9, of Methuen.

Members of Pedro's senior team at the tournament were George Pissimissis of Worcester, who finished first, Mike Procopio of Middleton, who finished second, Ross McCree of Sudbury, and Will Payne of Andover.

Pedro's Judo Club also brought home 19 trophies

Merrimack Valley's newest bank recently opened for business. The St. Augustine School Savings Bank in the school's Central Street building is a financial institution established and operated by primary school students. The bank, sponsored by North Andover's Northmark Bank and advised by school coordinator Maria Sannella, Ph.D. (in back, center), is open each week to accept deposits, pay out withdrawals and maintain its accounting ledgers. The bank's directors, all current St. Augustine students, are (in no particular order) Stephanie Caruso, Melissa Chiozzi, Chrissy Cronin, Stacy A. Naughton and Kelly O'Dea. "This is a wonderful opportunity for our students to learn about how the financial world really works," said Sannella. Jane C. Walsh, Northmark Bank president, is at far right.

How do you begin to write a book? Where do the ideas in books come from? How do you develop these ideas and begin to write them down? How do you know when you've written you best? How is the actual book made?

These were some of the questions author and college student Alexandra Wright presented to the Shawsheen School kindergarten through second grade classes Tuesday, March 16, and Wednesday, March 17. Wright grew up in Boston and had her first book, Will We Miss Them? Endangered Species, published when she was in sixth grade. This book was written after rummaging through her parents' junk mail and finding brochures from organizations such as the World Wildlife Fund. Her interest in endangered species sent her to the library, where she was shocked to find that there were more than 3,000 endangered species. Wright felt other kids should know about this issue and began to write.

Her second book, At Home in the Tide Pool, was a result of a summer camp outing, wading waist deep through the murky tide pools in Kittery, Maine. Wright's third animal-oriented book, Can We Be Friends? Nature's Partners, looks at how symbiosis works among animals such as the crocodile and the plover.

The young author poured out her enthusiasm for the writing and research processes. Her presentation was organized by Shawsheen PTO's Cultural Events Committee. Wright's themes fit in with Shawsheen's schoolwide Endangered Species theme this year.

Health director makes case for new sewers

By Neil Fater

Statistics may not lie, but Health Director Everett Penney believes the septic system failure rate statistics for the South Main Street and Rogers Brook areas may not be telling the whole story.

"I think if (this sewer project) is approved, it will have the most significant impact on public health and environmental protection of anything I've done in the 20 years I've been here," says Penney.

That's why he and other town officials say they're supporting Article 41, which seeks $22.5 million to expand sewers into South Andover and Ballardvale, and Article 42, which seeks $4.3 million for expanding sewers into the Rogers Brook area.

Andover made public Tuesday its required Environmental Impact Report to the state regarding these sewer projects, and copies of that report are available at the town clerk's office and the library. Clerk's office employees say Public Works Director Bob McQuade has said the copies can not leave town offices, and copies cost 20 cents per page.

The EIR is considered a draft report, and residents will not know the state's response and potential required changes to the project until months after Town Meeting.

Residents do have Penney's latest figures on how many inspected septic systems have failed their inspections since the 1995 adoption of Title V. The figures are accurate through April 16, and show that failure rates for both of the specific areas covered by the warrant articles are somewhat higher than the town average, says Penney. But all figures are lower than those of other towns analyzed by Penney.

On the whole, Andover has an average failure rate of 13 percent, according to Penney. Sewers in the South Main and Ballardvale Road area have a 15 percent failure rate, while 22 percent of sewers inspected in the Rogers Brook area have failed.

But Penney says the problem is worse than the statistics show.

"There may not be studies to document it, there may not be data to prove why this area is worse off than another, but I think the experience that we're having with installing systems and the hardship cases we're having with replacing systems... validate the fact that this area has a greater problems than other areas," he says.

Penney and residents of both areas say that the older systems, poor soil conditions, high water table, and the size of some lots make both areas places where sewer lines are desperately needed.

It's also difficult for some people to repair their systems because of their proximity to wetlands, says Penney.

Some residents of both areas, including Katherine Scapicchio, of Appletree Lane, say one reason the failure rates are not higher is because people with problems are afraid to have their systems inspected.

"It's definitely low," she says of the failure-rate statistics. "You don't take your car that doesn't run to be inspected."

She believes that some people's systems are too small to ever pass a Title V inspection.

However, other people, including some who attended a meeting on sewers April 14, say that negligence, or a lack of septic system maintenance, is the reason for some of the failures.

"I think the failures are caused by both.

98 to go ...

- approve more than $26 million for two sewer expansion projects; and
- spend approximately $2.5 million to design two new schools and the related sewers and sidewalks.

All but the sewer articles, which are 40 and 41, will be among the first 20 addressed, and are expected to be handled during the first, or possibly second, night of Town Meeting, depending on the length of public discussion about each issue.

Later, residents will consider articles that appear to try to keep or improve the current "feel" of Andover's neighborhoods.

Residents will consider:

- adopting a local wetlands protection bylaw;
- establishing another historic district;
- creating a new downtown business district that looks to banish private offices from the first floor of downtown buildings;
- spending more money to repair sidewalks than is supported currently by town officials;
- paying to help residents oppose a proposed power plant and tear down an existing cell tower;
- making improvements to the Main Street area, beyond those funded by a state grant;
- preventing people from storing outside second-hand or junk material;
- putting 65-foot lights at a playing field; and
- requiring more yard space be left between some new houses and their property lines.

It is likely that a number of these articles will not be addressed until May 10 or 11, after the break.

This is the first year there will be a break between the second and third night of Town Meeting, and selectmen are taking advantage of the break by holding their recommendation on some articles that probably won't come to a vote until at least May 10.

Safety center sales job

By Neil Fater

Older police and firefighters say the existing North Main Street station was obsolete before the first crook ever entered its jail. Current police and firefighters say things certainly haven't improved in the years since then.

As a result, the Andover police and fire chiefs say it's time to call for help by approving $12.9 million to build a new safety center at the same location.

Fortunately for them, the two chiefs have few political fires to fight as they head toward Town Meeting. Selectmen are in unanimous support of Article 16, which supports the building project and allows it to be funded in a number of ways.

Article 17 also proposes the same building project, but requires it to be funded through a debt exemption override of Proposition 2½.

A need for more space, and fixing severe structural problems with the fire department's garage floor are among the reasons for a new safety center, say the chiefs.

One of the most frequently mentioned problems is that the town's newest ladder truck can't be housed downtown, because the safety center garage floor is so weak that it can't support the truck's 40-ton weight.

A new safety center will fix that situation and provide an additional 23,000 square feet, including a tiered training room and a tower for drying hoses. Fire Chief Harold Wright says the exterior of the building will be built to match the rest of the downtown, and the tower will face Pearson Street.

The new center will also address other problems because it:

- includes separate bathroom and sleeping areas for females who now share such quarters with their male counterparts;
- replaces facilities, including jail cells, that do not meet state code;
- replaces a condemned firing range with a new four-bay range in the basement; and
- provides a police station front door that allows handicapped access, so wheelchair-bound people don't have to enter the station through a garage.

Earlier discussion by some selectmen about renovating the existing building has stopped, in part because the architect hired by the town has said such a project will be too expensive.

How to pay?

If Town Meeting approves Article 16, the project will definitely be built. But it will be up to the selectmen to decide if and when the project will be funded with a debt exemption of Proposition 2½.

It appears that, for at least the first year, the project will be paid out of the regular tax base.

"We are not anticipating a (debt exemption) override this year and we're not even sure if there will be an override in the second year. It depends on the economy and other factors," says Police Chief Brian Pattullo. "The big debt doesn't hit until about the third year so we should be able to maintain the status quo for a while."

Pattullo says the speed with which the school budget increases may determine how quickly the town needs to ask for a debt exemption. A debt exemption for the safety center could be combined with the expected debt exemption vote for two new schools. The vote to approve money for the two new schools is expected at next year's Town Meeting.

Cost breakout

If the $12.9-million safety center project is approved by Town Meeting and paid over 20 years, it will cause an estimated $97 property tax increase for the average homeowner during fiscal year 2001, when the debt service is at its highest point, according to town figures. The project would cost taxpayers less during the other 20 years of the project.

The $12.9 million will cover the $281,000 cost of supplying temporary facilities for police and fire personnel during the construction. Temporary facilities will be built at the West Fire Station, Spring Grove Cemetery and the town yard off Lewis Street.

The rest of the $12.9 million is divided into:

- $10,079,000 for construction costs;
- $790,000 for architectural and engineering fees;
- $714,000 for a six-percent contingency budget to cover unexpected problems;
- $654,000 for furnishings and other equipment; and
- $382,000 for project management and other costs.

That last figure includes $62,000 for David Harding, the construction project manager the town hired to oversee the public safety center, senior center and school construction projects.

Besides Harding, the town will hire two other people to oversee the job. There will be a clerk of the works paid $160,000, and a "project tracking person," paid $10,000, sought by Joe Piantedosi, plant and facilities director, says Harding.

"For a $13 million project, you'd have to have a clerk of the works," says Harding. "I'll be inputting into and reviewing their work."

Sewers ...

It's a combination of high ground water and poor maintenance," says Penney. "(Some people unfamiliar with septic) treat a septic system the same way they treat a sewer. They poor chemicals down the drain that kill bacteria and they don't pump it out."

Penney does not have specific statistics breaking down why Andover systems have failed.

Coliform counts as high as 3,000 have been discovered in the areas covered by the sewer articles. Counts as high as 45,000 were discovered last year near the downtown area, and a sewer replacement in that area had been slated as a high priority for several years.

That sewer replacement article never came to Town Meeting. But town officials say they believe they have tracked the source of the problem to a malfunctioning pumping station on Morton Street, which is currently under repair.

Cost

Two-thirds of the project cost will be paid for by those who will be serviced by the new sewer lines, and one-third of the cost will be paid by current sewer users. McQuade has said the highest water users will see no more than a $99 increase per year in their rates, and the average users will see no more than a $66 increase.

Estimated betterments have been mailed to those who will be affected by the project, and those betterments can be paid over 25 years. People will also have to pay a private contractor to connect the sewer line to their home. McQuade will not estimate the cost of that because the cost can fluctuate considerably, depending on whether a house's plumbing must be altered to make a connection.

"I would expect that the final betterment would not vary much from what you got as a betterment in the mail," McQuade told a resident at the April 14 meeting. "We feel we can keep (cost overruns) to a minimum. I estimate in the last 10 to 15 years we have complete 25 sewer projects with no overruns."

While the town says current sewer users will pay one-third the cost, some residents believe the cost may be higher.

Those charged betterments will not begin paying them until the entire project is complete, says McQuade.

"What that means to the current rate payers like me is we're going to carry 100 percent of the costs for as long as it takes to complete the project," charges Chris Holmes, of Whispering Pines Lane.

She wants the entire town to pay one-third the cost of the project, and to have a public discussion about the issue.

Holmes would also like a public discussion about charging developers impact fees, so they can pay for some of the projects caused by expansion.

EIR

The EIR filed Tuesday says there are 147 lots in the proposed areas that can be developed. It says the state highway department states the traffic impacts to Route 28 will "be minimal."

The report shows there will be about 30 miles of sewer and three pumping stations.

A 16-by-10-foot concrete above-ground structure will be built on Morningside Drive, fitted with stained shingles and a peaked roof "much like a storage shed or a small one-car garage. Landscaping will also be used. The large one will look like a wooden garage. The rest will be underground," says McQuade.

The other two pumping stations will be on Woburn Street and Salem Street, with the only above-ground portion being the size of a traffic signal control box.

A soil classification system used by the consultant who prepared the report labeled 77 percent as having "severe limitations for septic tank absorption fields."

About 10 percent had only "slight limitations" included the Teaberry and Blackberry Lane areas, where at least some people are hoping their streets can be removed from the sewer project.

The report says 15 acres of cross-country area will be temporarily affected by the construction, but that "all potential cross-country pipeline routes were walked in their entirety several times," to make sure the best route was selected.

However, the report also states "an accurate estimated of total wetlands impacts will not be available until all wetlands in the project area are flagged and surveyed." Only the Rogers Brook project and one-fourth of the South Main Street project have been sewered.

Shawsheen Historic District draws the line

By Rebecca Lipchitz

A few residents whose homes are within the proposed Shawsheen Historic District wonder why they weren't allowed to join petitioners from Enmore Street who were removed from the proposed district in January.

Tim Jackson and Jane Risch of Haverhill Street, across from the Grocery Bag convenience store, wrote to the Board of Selectmen this past week, asking the Shawsheen Historic District Study Committee to also exclude a portion of Haverhill Street.

Jackson, who lives in a split-level home built in the 1960s, says his home is not historically significant, unlike many other homes in the area originally built as part of Shawsheen Village in the early 1960s.

"This whole issue is about control over purchase and tear down, and I can understand that, but I have trouble understanding why Haverhill Street east of the railroad bridge is included," Jackson says.

A group of residents on Enmore and Haverhill streets petitioned the Historic District Study Committee in January requesting to be removed from the proposed district. Of the 48 who signed the petition, 41 were residents of Enmore Street, which was later removed from the proposed district. Seven residents, including Jackson, also signed the petition asking to be excluded, but their properties are still included on the plan for the proposed historic district.

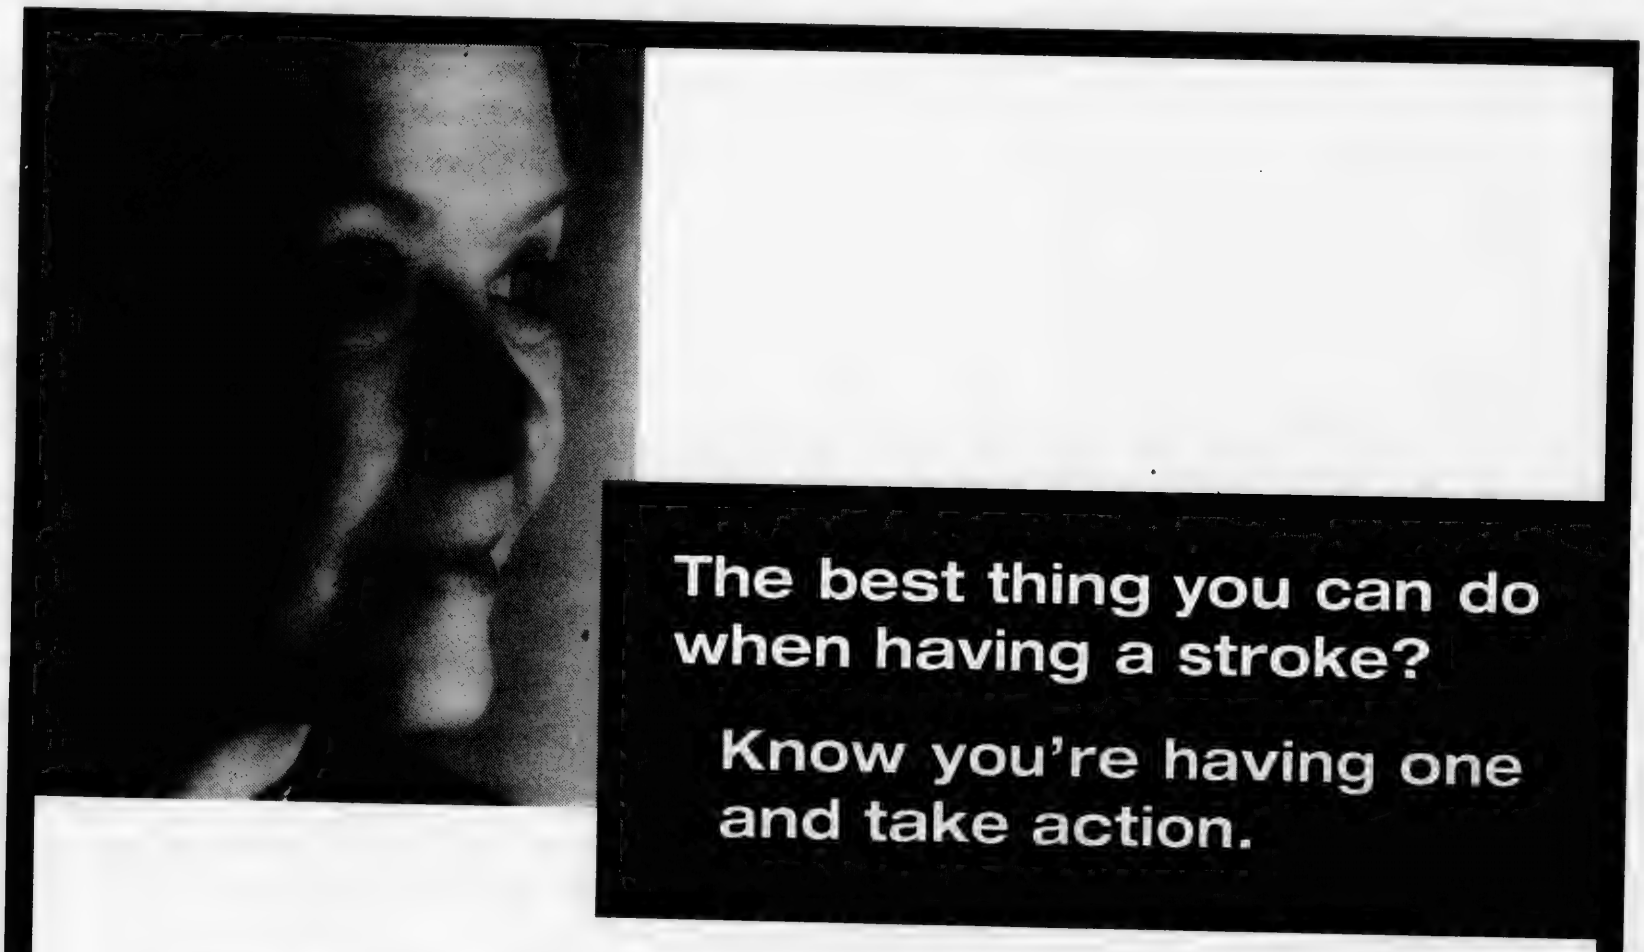

Ray Flynn, Chairman of the committee, says that to start choosing which properties on Haverhill Street should be included would be "spot zoning" rather than creating a cohesive district.

"We need to keep the boundaries so the (district) isn't broken up into sections," he says. Flynn adds that the Jackson's home is on the National Register of Historic Places not because the home is historic, but because the property is included in an historic area, and therefore should be protected in the proposed historic district.

"If someone wants to raze this house and put something else up, it could take away from the other historically significant homes in that area," Flynn says.

Flynn, who received a copy of Jackson's letter Tuesday, says he has not yet heard from selectmen on the issue, and referred Jackson to Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski.

The petition to create the Shawsheen Historic District is Article 84 on the Town Meeting warrant.

tive effort to control nature, in the same way that we try to control everything else in our world. It's a pretty good bet that area delivery rooms will be clogged with expectant parents on the night of Dec. 31, not because mom has actually gone into labor but because she and dad will be demanding that their doctor induce mom so she can deliver at one second past midnight.

This is already getting ugly enough that I wouldn't be surprised if it produces a flood of lawsuits, all arguing over what is the official, legal "moment of birth," since there will be so many children born within a few seconds of one another. I wouldn't be surprised to find lawyers, or agents, in delivery rooms with stopwatches.

Congratulations on your new arrival. Please have your attorney call my attorney.

And finally, I wish it would go away because it has apparently escaped these "participants" that this, after all, involves the creation of a human being. A human being who, presumably, would wish to grow up in a family that views him or her as something more precious than a winning lottery ticket. A human being who will have hopes and dreams like normal people, most of whom would recoil at the thought of living life as some kind of millennial freak. A human being with a soul, even, which is becoming totally lost amid hype that is making it so crassly commercial.

The gift of children is truly one of the ultimate human experiences. It deserves to be celebrated.

But in an era when we're always talking about how you can't put a price on human life, that is exactly what this is doing.

And rather than make it the special, precious thing it is, this sort of stuff simply devalues it.

Your Dental HEALTH

by Richard D. Hopgood, D.M.D., F.A.G.D.

SEALED AND DELIVERED

Sealants are composed of a thin plastic film that the dentist brushes onto biting surfaces of molars and premolars. After they harden, sealants provide a barrier against decay-causing bacteria. In fact, when properly applied and maintained, sealants are one hundred percent effective in protecting tooth surfaces from decay. They last between five and ten years. And, according to an American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry survey, children who had just a single application of sealants on their back teeth had half the amount of tooth-decay and tooth restoration as children without sealants. While sealants may be applied to the teeth of patients of any age, they provide the most potential benefit to children.

Sealants have an important role to play in the fight against tooth decay. When properly applied and maintained, they can successfully protect the chewing surfaces of teeth. And, when combined with a program of regular brushing, flossing, smart snacking, and dental visits, the risk of decay can be reduced and perhaps even eliminated. Do you remember when your last dental checkup was? Now would be a good time to schedule an appointment at 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133 (with easy access off Rt 93). PH: 475-2431.

P.S. A sealant for a single tooth costs roughly the same as filling a cavity.

Short cuts

Neil Fater

Fur coat, no pants

Every once in a while, the going gets incredibly tough. That's when a person learns what he's made of, what kind of person he is, whether he has the necessary mettle.

It also happens to be when I take the easy way out.

At least that's the case this week, as the need to write a number of Town Meeting articles forces me to forego my usual column.

Instead, I'll use this space to share some responses to my recent request for readers to send me the cream of their e-mail crop. You, too, can make my life easier by sending your best to nfater@andovertownsman.com. Stop being so selfish!

Ten ways to say someone's stupid

- His Wheaties have been in the milk too long.
- An intellect rivaled only by garden tools.
- Her monorail doesn't go all the way to Tomorrowland.
- Has so few thoughts that when he free associates, it's like watching tennis.
- A flash of light, a cloud of dust, and what was the question?
- Her sewing machine's been out of thread for some time now.
- Doesn't just know nothing, doesn't even suspect much.
- He's so dense, light bends around him.
- Doesn't have two neurons to rub together.
- If you give him a penny for his thoughts, you get change back.

Soft and sweet

For those of you soft-hearted enough to not enjoy such fare, here are some sweet differences between a real friend and a simple friend. Warning! Those on a regular Short Cuts diet may wish to avoid this saccharin.

A simple friend identifies himself when he calls. A real friend doesn't have to.

A simple friend opens a conversation with a full news bulletin on his life. A real friend says, "What's new with you?"

A simple friend thinks the problems you whine about are recent. A real friend says, "You've been whining about the same thing for 14 years. Get off your butt and do something about it."

A simple friend hates it when you call after she's gone to bed. A real friend asks you why you took so long to call.

A simple friend wonders about your romantic history. A real friend could blackmail you with it.

Anyone can stand by you when you are right. A real friend will stand by you even when you are wrong.

There! Expect your regular dose of sarcasm here next week.

Holy smoke, Bosstones at Merrimack

By Neil Fater

Someday, I suppose, Merrimack College seniors will say they had a Devil's Night out Friday, April 23, as part of their last days of college. And they'll have the pictures to prove it.

That's because ska-hybrid band The Mighty Mighty Bosstones will play their Spring Week '99.

The Bosstones, a musically raucous band with a moral compass, are known for hit songs including The Impression That I Get, Someday I Suppose, Pictures to Prove It, Where'd You Go and The Rascal King.

Although they've been together with their current lineup since the early 1990s, the Bosstones hit a new level of fame just a few years ago with appearances in the movie Clueless, on MTV, and during the Lollapalooza tour.

Still, the band has stayed true to its Boston-area roots, even turning out a recent album Live From The Middle East, recorded at the popular club in Cambridge.

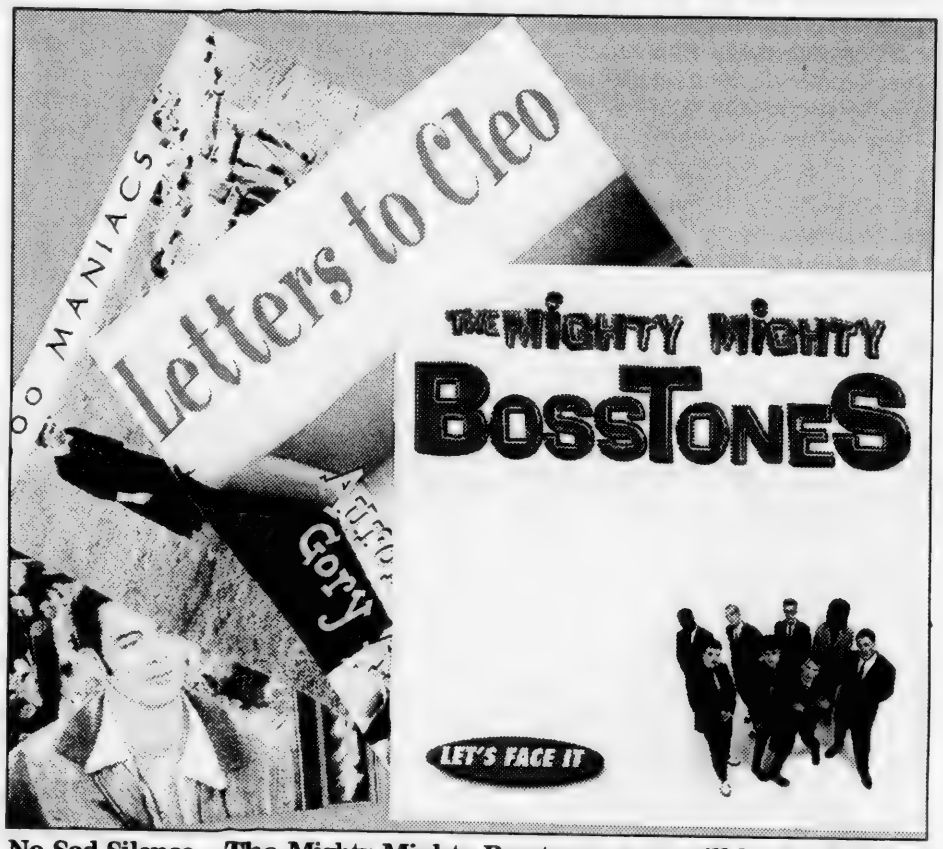

The band includes high-octane vocalist Dicky Barrett — who's been described (lovingly) as sounding as if he gargles with octane — and drummer Joe Sirois, a graduate of Andover High.

A 25-student program board, and the student body at large, selected the Bosstones as the band they wanted to hear this year.

First, the program board created a list of the ideal bands they wanted, says Dianne Spatafore, assistant director of student activities.

"They come up with a wish list and we kind of check that wish list with the agents to see which ones of those are even possible because of the bands' schedules," she says.

A new list is made of those bands that can play the weekend of Spring Week, and the program board selects three bands to be voted on by the entire student body.

No Sad Silence – The Mighty Mighty Bosstones soon will be the latest in a growing collection of fine bands to play Merrimack College recently.

Obviously, Merrimack selected the Bosstones.

"They're probably the biggest band we've had in a while," says Spatafore.

But Merrimack has attracted a small noise brigade of terrific live bands recently, including 10,000 Maniacs, Kay Hanley's Letters to Cleo, The Verve Pipe and G Love and Special Sauce. (Actually, I've never seen The Verve Pipe live.)

The Mighty Mighty Bosstones' appearance highlights Merrimack's Spring Week '99, which includes a softball tournament Saturday, and a music-driven "Unity Day" on Sunday.

Spring Week is the last weekend of school before finals start.

Andover residents can attend The Mighty Mighty Bosstones concert. General admission tickets are $20, while students with Merrimack IDs can get four tickets for $18 each.

Tickets are on sale in advance through the school's student activities office at (978) 837-5500, or at the door the night of the show.

Rascal kings and queens can also get tickets by tangling with Ticketmaster at either (617) or (508) 931-2000. Ticketmaster can also be contacted on the Web at www.ticketmaster.com.

The Volpe Center holds about 3,500 people.

Music recitals, dedication coming at Phillips

The tenor of this weekend – and beyond – at Phillips Academy is to focus on music.

The Phillips music department will have a senior recital Friday, April 23, at 7 p.m., featuring soprano Caitlin Mulhern, accompanied by pianist Christina Schmidt '99. The concert will take place in Graves Hall on the PA campus on the corner of School and Main streets.

Then, there will be a faculty recital Sunday, April 25, at 3 p.m., featuring tenor Allen Combs, also in Graves Hall.

On Wednesday, April 28 ,at 6:30 p.m., the Phillips music department will present a recital dedicating the school's new Lyon & Healy harp. The concert will take place in the Addison Gallery of American Art, located on the PA campus, 180 Main St.

All three events are free and open to the public.

Mulhern's recital will include Italian art songs of Guilio Cuccini, Antonio Caldara and Carissimi; songs from Samuel Barber's well-known cycle Hermit Songs and Spanish folksongs by Federico García Lorca, as well as popular songs.

Any inquiries regarding this performance may be made by calling the Phillips Academy music department, (978)749-4263 or e-mail: music@andover.edu. Graves Hall is handicapped accessible.

Caitlin Mulhern, a senior from Hopewell, N.J., studies voice with PA adjunct music faculty member Jacqueline Zander. The active participant in the PA music and theatre departments has performed in school plays with major roles in Pippin, Feiffer's People, and Our Country's Good. In 1997 she toured to the Fringe Festival in Edinburgh, Scotland, in a PA production of Big River.

She is the senior poetry editor for the Courant, a letter varsity athlete in track and cross country, and participates in the school's dance programs.

She will attend New York University in the fall, where she will participate in the Collaborative Arts Project 21 Music Theatre Performance Conservatory, a professional training experience that provides

It's your call, at auction

Hmm... Miss Piggy or Dana Delany?

How would you like actress Dana Delany to be the voice on your answering machine?

Interested in a Grumpy Old Men script autographed by Academy Award-winner Jack Lemmon, or a house in the Caribbean for a week? Ever wonder how to get four box seats above the Red Sox dugout? These are a few items up for bid at an auction to benefit the students from the Phillips Academy Department of Theatre and Dance Sunday, April 25. Doors of Tang Theatre in George Washington Hall on the Phillips Academy campus will open at 2 p.m. for bidding on silent auction items. Live auction bidding will begin at 3. Proxy bids are possible by calling Lisa Buckley at 749-4000. Admission is $5, refunded as part of the purchase price of an item.

Approximately 50 items will be auctioned, including vacation packages in Paris, France, Colorado, Maine and Vermont; exercise equipment, jewelry, theater tickets and dinners. A plane ride in a 1952 Russian Fighting Yak and Muppet Miss Piggy memorabilia are among the unusual items.

Proceeds will be used to help send 25 students and four faculty members to the American High School Theatre Festival in Scotland in August, which is part of the Edinburgh Fringe Festival, the world's largest theater festival. Only 15 American schools are chosen to attend from a competitive pool of 480. This is the record third time Philips has been chosen.

The PA theater troupe will spend three days in London and 10 days in Scotland, where they will give four performances of Joseph Heller's We Bombed in New Haven, a satire about senseless bombing missions.

The students will perform the play in the Tang Theatre May 20-22. Tickets are $5. For reservations, call the box office at 749-4433.

Combs

Combs' program will include music of Beethoven, Bizet, Borodin, Wagner, Delius and Britten.

The Phillips Academy music faculty member is well known throughout the greater Boston area for his performances in oratorio, opera and recital, according to a release.

Also active as a choral conductor, Combs is now in his ninth season as music director of the Andover Choral Society.

A graduate of the University of Idaho and University of Massachusetts at Lowell, Combs has performed with the choirs of Phillips Academy and Phillips Exeter Academy, and has also been a soloist with The Dedham Choral Society, Cambridge Community Chorus, Lawrence Choral Arts Society, Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Society and the Reading Symphony Orchestra, and the choirs of Harvard, Brown and Tufts universities.

His repertoire includes the B-Minor Mass, St. Matthew Passion and St. John Passion of J.S.Bach; Mozart's Requiem and Coronation Mass; Haydn's The Creation; and Handel's Messiah, Israel in Egypt and Esther.

His operatic roles include Britten's Albert Herring, Soliman in Mozart's Zaide, Aeneas in Purcell's Dido and Aeneas, and the Witch in Humperdinck's Hansel and Gretel.

An avid proponent of new music, Combs has given world premieres at the Lowell New Music Festival and Cambridge's

Local residents stirring musicals

Andover resident Rishabh Iyer, as Ariel, will perform on the Wheelock Family Theatre's stage through May 9 in Shakespeare's The Tempest.

Organizers said, "Join the Wheelock Family Theatre for a rare opportunity to see actress Jane Staab as she performs Prospero, one of Shakespeare's most powerful and touching male roles.

"Watch as director James P. Byrne crafts Shakespeare's last play into a theatrical event that is both accessible and thrilling for anyone over the age of 5. Children will thrill to the magic, visual effects, and happy ending, while adults will be intrigued and reassured by The Tempest's deeper meaning – whatever is precious can never be completely lost."

Wheelock Family Theatre is located at 180 The Riverway, Boston. Performances are Fridays at 7:30 p.m., Saturdays and Sundays at 3 p.m., and April 20-23 at 1 p.m. Tickets are $10-$15 and may be purchase by calling the box office at (617) 734-4760, TTY 731-4426.

Never mind stars, wells or fairy godmothers. Here's a guaranteed way to make your wishes come true.

It's called (no surprise here) "Your Seasons... Wish List." This is how it works.

Simply walk into Seasons... and browse our handmade pottery and jewelry, sumptuous fabrics and tableware, whimsical Greenwich Collection pieces, shimmering Radko ornaments, artwork by Margaret Furlong and Tracy Porter, and other pleasant surprises.

See what catches your fancy, take your "Wish List" in hand (they hang conveniently by the door) and note your favorites. Then, when someone asks, "What would you like for Mother's Day/your birthday/anniversary/just being you?" you can direct them to Seasons..., where your wishes will be known and fulfilled..

Not as romantic as throwing coins in the Trevi fountain, perhaps, but certainly more reliable.

RELIGION NEWS

Bible scholar to give lecture Friday, April 30 at Temple Emanuel

Everett Fox, a professor of Bible and Judaic Studies at Clark University, will deliver the Thayer and Bernice Warshaw Distinguished Visitors' lecture at Temple Emanuel of Andover, 7 Haggetts Pond Road, Friday, April 30. The noted Bible scholar and translator has spent the last 25 years translating the sacred text of the Hebrew Scriptures.

Last year he was invited to Hollywood to serve as an onsite expert during the filming of the movie, Prince of Egypt. His recent translation of the Five Books of Moses has been greeted with enthusiasm by clergy and lay people alike for the accessibility of its language and its in-depth commentary.

Professor Fox will speak at an interfaith clergy institute at noon, and again at 8:15 p.m., at the regular Friday night Shabbat service. His afternoon lecture will be entitled "David and Bathsheva... the Text not the Movie." At night, he will speak on "Our Biblical Heroes... Were They All They Were Cracked Up To Be?"

The public is invited to the Friday evening service and lecture, and all clergy and religious educators are invited to the afternoon clergy institute. For more information, call 470-1356.

'Not Your Typical Church Service'

When you think of a Sunday morning church service, what image is conjured in your mind? For some people it is an image of a group of octogenarians sitting on uncomfortable wooden benches for an hour each Sunday morning singing old hymns dating back to the 1800s. For others the image is of a slick-haired, fire-and-brimstone preacher that literally shouts at the congregation, telling them to "turn – or burn." "BrookRidge Community Church continues to shatter these kinds of images," Pastor Bill Watson says.

This Sunday, April 25, BrookRidge Community Church, located on the second floor of the warehouse at 16 Haverhill St., will present a Gospel brunch featuring a concert by the Bullock Brothers.

"Our aim is to make the morning a party. Many people seem to feel that God has something against fun. This is clearly not the case. The Bible even says, 'There is nothing better for people than to be happy. That everyone may eat and drink and find joy in their life.' So why should going to church be a drag?" asks Dr. Paul Awald, a teaching pastor at BRCC.

The morning will begin at 10 a.m. and will be dedicated primarily to a concert by the Bullock Brothers, an African-American gospel band and male chorus from Roxbury. Their music definitely breaks the mold of the dull, moldy-oldie, church hymn. In addition, a comedic drama will be presented and a very short message will be given.

With regard to message, Dr. Awald explains, "This is a church service after all, but I think you will find that the message will be relevant to the real world and will not be the standard fare that one might expect at a church."

Most importantly there will be food. The majority of the seating in the sanctuary is being removed to make room for tables where people can sit and eat while listening to the music. Brunch will be served as long as the food holds out, so if you are hungry you might want to arrive "on the early side," they said.

The brunch and the concert are free, but voluntary donations will be accepted to support the Bullock Brothers. For recorded information, contact BrookRidge Community Church at 682-0302.

Congregation Tifereth Israel plans community yard sale Sunday, May 2

Congregation Tifereth Israel, 501 South Main St. (Route 28) will sponsor a community yard sale Sunday, May 2, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. (no early birds, please). The family event will include pony rides and a bake sale. For more information, call 474-0540.

Boston Museum of Science in conjunction with the Museum's celebration of Astronomy Day. During the evening hours and, (for hardy souls) well into the early morning hours, "The Wonders of the Night Sky" public celestial observing is offered at two NSAAC observing sites. Clear sky permitting, you will visually travel distances that can only be imagined. Part of the lure of amateur astronomy is "hunting" for distant star clusters, nebulae, planets, galaxies, and other "Deep Sky" objects. Once found and appreciated, it's difficult to comprehend that their silent splendor belies their violent lives, organizers said.

NSAAC will host astronomical programs free of charge at the following locations:

Boston Museum of Science, Boston (exhibits in the museum lobby), 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Program: "Astronomy Observing with Binoculars" (noon) with Barrier Sawyer.

Displays: Observing equipment, audiovisual presentation with NSAAC members, Meteors with Lew Gramer. The NSAAC System for Handicap Access Recreation and Education (S.H.A.R.E.) with Rob Nelson.

Merrimack College, Route 114, North Andover, 8 to 11 p.m.

Program: Celestial Observing Presentation: "Astronomy and the PC" presented by Ralph Pass of Andover, and Greg Pearce. (Cloudy or clear sky) Celestial observing with the college observatory 20" telescope (pending a clear sky).

Second floor, Mendel Center, Science and Engineering Building and NSAAC members will offer observing in the parking lot adjacent to the Mendel Center.

Veasey Memorial Park, Washington Street, Groveland, 8 to 11 p.m.

Program: Celestial observing presentation: "Celestial Wonders" with Prof. Cosmo Q. Redshift.

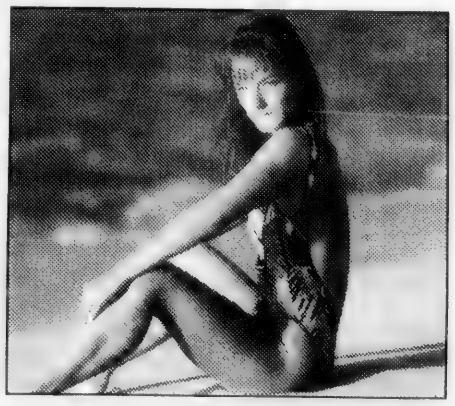

A display and presentation on NASA "Moon Rocks" by Don DiFelice, science teacher at Pentucket Regional High School, Groveland.

Celestial observing "Star Party" with the NSAAC members (pending a clear sky).

If women in the home would learn the rudiments of fire safety, they could prevent nearly three-fourths of all building fires in the United States, according to figures of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Mrs. Woodson Ezell of 67 Bartlet St. gave an interesting talk on trays Monday afternoon before the Reading Craftsmen's Society of Reading.

Punchard High School dropped its first game of the Merrimack Valley league Monday afternoon to Howe High of Billerica as they were stopped dead by the superb hurling of huge George Gracle. With errorless ball being played behind him, Gracle easily pitched his way to victory as time and again the Punchard batters were mystified by his speed and curves.

Notices that the local post of American Veterans of World War II has terminated its activity have been sent to the board of selectmen. Known as the AMVETS, the organization was provided with quarters in the town house which it now relinquishes with thanks to the selectmen for providing the temporary home for its headquarters.

Reappointed by the selectmen for another term, the Andover Recreation committee met recently and appointed James D. Doherty supervisor of playgrounds. Mr. Doherty, who has been an assistant supervisor for several seasons, will take over the office formerly held by Benjamin Dimlich, who has submitted his resignation after many years of service.

The Andover tax rate for 1949 will be $36 or $37. The board of assessors have not yet completed their work, but a preliminary study indicates the increase of $2 or $3 over the percent rate of $34 per $1000.

Increasing enrollment in the town's senior and junior high schools together with the resignation of Miss Olive F. Eldridge will make the appointments of three teachers necessary in the near future.

The Greater Lawrence Council for Children recently approved funds for a "Help for Children" program to serve children and families in the area. "Help for Children" is an information, referral, and advocacy service administered by the State Office for Children. The program handles problems related to education, medical services, diagnosis foster care, runaways, drugs, counseling, homemakers, day care, and other things.

Mrs. Allen Townsend of High St., Andover, and Albert Kozlovski of Brentwood Cricle, North Andover, are members of the Painter's Guild of the Lexington Arts and Crafts Society, which is holding its Annual Spring Open House and Exhibit on Friday. This year's theme, Creative Energy 74, has been aptly chosen and is indicative of what can be expected of the coming exhibit. There will be demonstrations of painting, traditional and contemporary, in all media, ceramics, decorating, jewelry and enameling, and others.

Petitions carrying more than 4,615 signatures for a public hearing for Assistant Superintendent Edward Regan and High School English Department Head William Becker were to have been presented to the Andover School Committee last night. Regan and Becker were stripped of their respective titles at an April 10 meeting of the School Committee, which had refused to publicly give the reasons why.

Andover has not as yet submitted a site for possible regional consideration of locating a Resource Recovery Plant, and indications are the town may not. The Greater Lawrence Solid Waster Committee has received suggested locations from Methuen, Lawrence, and North Andover.

Three Andover firefighters graduated from the Massachusetts Firefighting Academy's seven-week recruit firefighting program. Bruce L. Belbin, Mark D. Conlon, and Clifford J. Pattullo participated in graduation exercises at the academy's headquarters in Sudbury on March 3, which marked the conclusion of an intensive and in-depth seven-week program. The program, which is offered tuition-free to the state's municipal firefighters, is designed to provide new firefighters with the basic skills to ensure their effective performance on the job, said Andover Fire Chief Harold Hayes.

The Andover Committee of the Appalachian Mountain Club invites the public to join a hike through Harold Parker State Forest and other areas on Sunday. The five-mile hike will require a little light bushwhacking.

William K. O'Brien of Andover has been appointed to a five-year term on the Bentley College President's Advisory Council.

Each year parents and faculty at South Elementary School develop one social and academic theme they feel needs to be explored and expanded in the classroom. This year's theme, "Building Bridges Instead of Walls," centers on how children interact with one another and ways prejudice and intolerance can be eliminated. "We can build the bridges; we just need the tools," says Jade Reitman, South principal.

Local men enter Run of the Charles

Cliff Carlson and Mike Hagerty, of Andover, are among the early entries in the 17th annual Run of the Charles canoe and kayak race Sunday, April 25.

Carlson and Hagerty are entered on a 10-paddler relay team for STV Inc. in the 24-mile Corporate Relay race, one of five races held as part of the day-long celebration of improvements to the Charles River. The Run of the Charles benefits the Charles River Watershed Association.

The Association, which seeks to protect and enhance the health, beauty and enjoyment of the Charles River and its tributaries, was among the first watershed associations organized in the U.S. Since its founding in 1965, CRWA has worked to clean up the river and protect its watershed.

The annual race highlights improvements in the Charles River, drawing more than 1,400 participants and thousands of spectators. All the races finish at Herter Park on Soldiers Field Road in Allston, at a day-long finish line festival of music, food, raffles, displays and award ceremonies.

For more information on the 1999 Run of the Charles, including entry forms, contact the Charles River Watershed Association at (800) 969-RACE, or (508) 698-6810, or e-mail crwarotc@aol.com

Future is still bright, company says

Financial view is fuzzy at PictureTel

It wasn't the kind of news that prompts companies to start faxing press releases to the area media. But once PictureTel Corporation, the Andover-based videoconferencing company, was required to announce earlier this month that its anticipated revenue for the first quarter of 1999 would be about 20 percent less than that of the previous quarter, the company strove to put the best face possible on it.

The drop in revenue, to an anticipated $76 million, was due in large measure to software problems with SwiftSite II, the company's brand new, smaller and less expensive videoconferencing system than the high-end, "corporate" systems that sell for $20,000 to $30,000.

First, the company was late in beginning to ship SwiftSite II, says PictureTel spokesman Kevin Flanagan. "We announced it in October, but then we didn't start to ship it until February.

Worse, once the system did start shipping, software problems developed.

"There are always bugs with new technology," Flanagan says, "and we certainly tested this (SwiftSite II) very thoroughly. But we didn't realize when we shipped it that using it on various different networks would seriously affect its performance. It took some real-life experience for those to show up."

The problems were serious enough that company CEO Bruce Bond decided to suspend shipping it, "and dedicate ourselves to rectifying the performance issues."

But he added, in a press release, "When we complete the necessary changes to the operating software, we are confident we will have a competitive product in the important compact systems space. We expect to solve the problems with SwiftSite II during the second quarter."

But meanwhile, the company will not record any of the revenue from SwiftSite II until an improved version begins shipping.

The word of slumping revenue immediately launched speculation about possible layoffs. Flanagan acknowledges that personnel is a primary area to save money, but said there has been no decision about when layoffs might occur, or how many there would be.

He maintains that while the company is going through some difficulties now, its long-term prospects remain very good.

"We still have the highest-performing product in the (videoconferencing) industry, with the Concorde 4500," he says.

Bond also acknowledges, however, that it will take some doing for the company to return to health.

"The videoconferencing industry is continuing to change rapidly," he said. "There is substantial price pressure on high-end systems. The shift to compact systems is continuing. And PictureTel's cost structure is too high and not flexible enough for the new marketplace realities. In response to these changes in the industry, we will significantly reduce our cost structure, particularly in our products business unit."

Flanagan says the company believes its niche in the future will be more in service than hardware, particularly since desktop computers are becoming fast and powerful enough to handle video information, and therefore will not require as many "add-on" features to boost the power.

"Systems with 750- and 1,000-megahertz processors are just around the corner," he says, "so we think the trend is going to be in the direction of multi-national corporations wanting a company like ours to just 'make it work.'

"If they're in the business of making cars or other products, they don't want to be trying to run a videoconferencing system. They'll want somebody else, like us, to do it."

Even more than that, Flanagan says, is the move toward "streaming" video and audio technology, where, for example, a company CEO can videotape a speech, send it to a server, and allow those in remote locations to call it up on the Internet, and view it whenever they like. It is also possible for those viewing the speech to send an e-mail with a question or suggestion.

"Employees can also create their own sound bite," Flanagan says, "where they take a portion of a speech that they might think is particularly effective, and then play it for a customer.

"That lets them use their system as a broadcast center, which really expands its capabilities," he says, "and we think that's going to be a very big way of moving PictureTel into the 21st Century."

$21M of Raytheon contract goes to Andover

While the bulk of the work on a $135.2-million contract for new and improved surface-to-air missiles awarded to Raytheon Systems Co. will be done in Tucson, Ariz., the company's Andover plant will get about $21.2 million of it, according to a press release from Congressman Martin Meehan's office.

Meehan, a senior member of the House Armed Services Committee, announced the award last week, calling it "great news for Raytheon, and all the hard workers who build these outstanding pieces of military equipment."

The contract calls for 114 new missiles and upgrades to another 63, making them faster and more capable, with more potent warheads. It also includes 100 telemetric data transmitting sets, which allow ships to track missiles and get feedback on their performance.

Not everybody was pleased at the news, however. Protesters from the National Priorities Project, of Northampton, and the Weapons Elimination Project, of Florence, Mass., were in Andover again Tuesday passing out leaflets that compared the country's $267-billion defense budget with those of other countries, and also with government spending on other domestic programs.

According to the flyer, defense spending in other countries ranged from a high of $82 billion in Russia to $42 billion in Germany, and a low of $13 billion in Taiwan.

The group also contends that besides the inflated defense budget, the government hands out $150 billion a year in corporate tax breaks, including $20 million to Raytheon.

If Congress cut just one C-17 cargo plane "with fuel leaks and wings that buckle," it could provide summer job training for 90,000 youth. Eliminating the entire fleet of C-17s would save $47 billion, which the group says would be enough to rebuild half the nation's "decaying sewer system," and create 1.6 million jobs.

Putnam awards $50,000 in grants

Putnam Investments, of Andover, has awarded grants totaling $50,000 to three Lawrence-area organizations: the Lawrence Partners in Education; Family Service Association of Greater Lawrence; and Lawrence Boys and Girls Clubs.

The grants were made through Putnam Youth Partners, a six-year-old program that supports organizations dedicated to helping young people with career development and job training. A committee of employees determines the grants.

Lawrence Partners in Education teaches young people through a combination of academic and workplace learning. Its Putnam Youth Partners grant will be used to send 50 Lawrence and Andover students to Biz Camp, a two-week business training camp to help the students develop individual small-business plans.

Family Service Association of Lawrence provides social service, education and counseling programs for residents of Merrimack Valley. Its grant will support the "Kids and Careers" program for seventh- and eighth-graders from the Henry K. Oliver School in Lawrence, who will participate in an after-school career exploration program that includes mentoring and job shadowing.

Lawrence Boys and Girls Clubs' grant will support the "Cars for Kids" program. Participants will be taught by a certified automotive instructor and will repair donated cars. The cars will be sold when the students complete their work. The participants will also take classes for the GED exam.

The grants were presented in a ceremony at Putnam's customer service and technology facility in Andover.

Founded in 1937, Putnam Investments is one of the nation's oldest and largest money management firms. Putnam manages $300 billion for more than 10 million individual shareholder accounts and 1,000 institutional clients.

First-place finishes by high jumper Liz Connors, long jumper Sheena Patel, discus thrower Ogechi Ibe and the 4x800 meter relay sparked the Andover High girls track team to second place in a 10-school field at the annual Tewksbury Girls Invitational Meet.

The Lady Warriors, defending Merrimack Valley Conference Division 1 champions with lopsided dual-meet wins over Notre Dame Academy (102-29) and Billerica (121-19) to their credit this spring, chalked up 119 points to trail only team champ Reading at 154.

The softball team continued its impressive play, sandwiching wins over Tewksbury (11-8) and Methuen (2-1, nine innings) around a 2-0 loss to pesky Notre Dame Academy.

The baseball team bounced back from its first loss to squeeze past East Boston, 3-2, while both tennis teams remained undefeated and the boys volleyballers won two of three recent matches.

GIRLS TRACK

Junior Liz Connors cleared 4'10" to win the high jump, sophomore Sheena Patel captured the long jump with a 15'1" leap, and Ogechi Ibe uncorked a 105'10" toss in the discus to lead Andover to second place in the Tewksbury Invite.

Host Tewksbury was a close third with 114 points, setting up an interesting dual-meet showdown between the two powers scheduled yesterday morning at the new AHS track.

Placing second for AHS were Patel in the 100-meter high hurdles, senior shot putter Janice Coppolino and junior triple jumper Siobhan Landry.

Andover thirds went to sophomore high jumper Emily Pfeil (4'10"), and junior triple jumper Jenny Hsu.

Placing fourth for the locals were senior two-miler and Capt. Kristen Munson, freshman Lindsay Durkin (800 meters), pole vaulter Emily Wooten and sophomore long jumper Jen Annese.

Earning fifths were senior two-miler and Capt. Pam Muller, freshman 300-meter intermediate hurdler Kaitlin Murphy, Pfeil in the mile, senior 100-meter high hurdler Liz Wheeler and senior Capt. Chidinma Ibe in the 100 dash.

Completing the Lady Warrior scorers in sixth were senior Capt. Leslie Ring (800 meters), Wheeler in the pole vault and junior Lindsay Ravens in the 200 meters.

Andover also won the 4x800 meter relay, placed fourth in the 4x400 relay and fifth in the 4x100 sprint relay.

Schedule

Andover has another tough assignment next Wednesday afternoon when Chelmsford comes to town for a 3:30 p.m. Merrimack Valley Conference Division 1 dual meet.

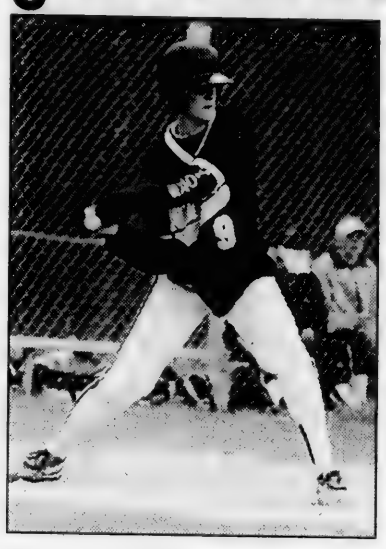

BASEBALL

Mark Rocca pitched seven strong innings of three-hit baseball, and Sean Lawton's two-out RBI double capped a three-run bottom of the sixth, as Andover registered a 3-2 non-league win over visiting East Boston.

Schedule

The Golden Warriors (2-1) launched their Merrimack Valley Conference schedule against Tewksbury yesterday, and spring vacation week play continues tomorrow with a key Division 1 game against visiting Central Catholic (2 p.m.).

Next Monday the Golden Warriors play their first road game at Chelmsford against the defending MVC Division 1 champs, and Wednesday it's back home to host Billerica, which is off to a fast 5-0 start this spring.

Andover 3
East Boston 2

Trailing 1-0 in the sixth, and held to just one single through the first five innings, the Golden Warriors rallied for the victory.

Nick Branzetti launched the comeback with a triple to left-center. Pinch-hitter Danny Hughes walked, and Mike Giles then re-entered the game and stole second. When the catcher's throw sailed into center field, Branzetti scored and Giles advanced to third.

Rick Johnson attempted a suicide squeeze bunt, but East Boston anticipated the strategy and pitched out. The pitchout resulted in a wild pitch, however, enabling Giles to score the go-ahead run easily.

Josh Topp then walked and raced home with the game-winning run on Lawton's double to right field.

Andover's only other threat came in the third inning when a runner reached third base.

East Boston scored single runs, both unearned, in the second and seventh innings.

Rocca (2-0) was sharp, surrendering only three singles while striking out five and walking three.

Jets' hurler John DiMarco was almost as good, tossing six innings of three-hit ball and allowing only one earned run.

"We shuffled the batting order a little bit," said coach Ken Maglio. "We hit the ball pretty hard but mostly right at people."

Christian Sempere singled for the other AHS safety, while Branzetti played a solid defensive game at first base.

Sophomores Jeff Volinski and Kevin Shepard look good in the outfield.

"When we get Hughes back full-time in center that should be a terrific defensive outfield," said Maglio. "All three are fast and get a good jump on the ball. They'll run down almost everything in the gaps."

SOFTBALL

Michelle Carpentier's brilliant nine-inning one-hitter, coupled with the clutch hitting and baserunning of batterymate Jen Roberge, lifted the Andover High softball team to a 2-1 victory over host Methuen on Tuesday.

That interesting win boosted the Lady Warriors overall record to 5-1, including 2-1 in Merrimack Valley Conference play, and moved coach Stephanie Ragucci's crew halfway to the 10 wins necessary for a second consecutive Division 1 North Tournament berth.

Schedule

Andover has three games next week at Billerica (Monday), home against Lawrence (Wednesday) and versus Central Catholic at Merrimack College (Friday). All three start at 3:30 p.m.

Andover 2
Methuen 1

This dramatic extra-inning triumph came when the visiting Lady Warriors erased a 1-0 deficit with a run in the top of the seventh, and then added the clincher in the ninth.

Senior righthander Michelle Carpentier improved to 3-0 on the mound, yielding only a fourth-inning single and an unearned run while fanning 10 and walking just one.

The locals tied it in the seventh, breaking a 15-inning scoring drought that dated back to the fifth inning of the Tewksbury game.

Junior catcher Jen Roberge drilled a leadoff triple down the left field line. Carpentier then laid down a bunt, and as the pitcher threw wide to first base Roberge raced home with the equalizer.

In the ninth, with a steady rain falling, Roberge walked and moved to third on a pair of wild pitches. Sophomore Kerri Axelrod laid down a one-out bunt, and Roberge again raced across with the game-winner as Axelrod was thrown out at first base.

"We had chances to win it earlier," said Ragucci. "We left runners at second base in the first, fourth and fifth innings, and had runners at first and second in the sixth. We hit a lot of balls hard but right at the Methuen fielders."

Sophomore Taylor Traub laced two singles for AHS, while adding one hit each were Lisa Tisbert, Kaitlin Dargan, Carpentier and Axelrod.

Leadoff batter Courtney Famiglietti had her five-game hitting streak snapped.

Defensive standouts were Traub at second base, Roberge behind the plate and Michelle Langone with four putouts in right field.

Notre Dame Academy 2
Andover 0

The host Lancers (deceptive 2-4 record) pushed across single runs in the first and third innings, and rode the strong pitching of Colleen Clarke to the upset win over the Lady Warriors.

Clarke yielded only five singles, struck out nine, and worked her way out of a couple jams to preserve the shutout.

"We didn't hit well, they got a couple of timely hits early and that was it," said coach Ragucci. "It was freezing cold which probably didn't help either team."

Did the previously-undefeated Lady Warriors take their opponent too lightly?

"Some girls may have been thinking 'we're 4-0 and this is only Notre Dame.' It's possible," said Ragucci. "But they played better than us and deserved to win. Good for them."

Laura Stone (2-1) was Andover's tough-luck losing pitcher. She also allowed only five hits and one earned run, fanning five and walking one.

Andover had runners at second and third with one out in the second inning, but Clarke pitched out of trouble with a strikeout and pop out to the shortstop.

Even more frustrating was the AHS sixth, when the locals loaded the bases with no one out. Sophomores Taylor Traub and Lisa Tisbert beat out back-to-back bunt singles, and everyone was safe on Kaitlin Dargan's fielder's choice grounder.

Clarke escaped this jam by striking out the next three batters.

Courtney Famiglietti, Lisa Sawin and Kerri Axelrod contributed a single each for Andover.

Nikki Tessier tripled and scored a run for NDA, while Katie DesBois and Clarke had RBI singles. Heather Grand and Tanya Maskaluk had the other Lancer safeties.

Andover 11
Tewksbury 8

The Lady Warriors built an 11-2 lead after four innings and held on to beat the previously-undefeated visitors.

"We let them back into the game by making six errors," said Ragucci. "There were a bunch of mental mistakes — things we hadn't done in our previous games.

"We hit the ball very well early, but after getting the nine-run lead we fell asleep."

Winning pitcher Michelle Carpentier (2-0) went the distance on the mound, surrendering 11 hits and five earned runs while fanning four and issuing no walks.

AHS laced nine hits off Tewksbury sophomore Amy Von Kahle, who struck out eight and walked three while also pitching a complete game.

The winners jumped ahead with five runs in the second inning.

Lisa Sawin reached on an error, Carpentier drilled a one-out single and Michelle Langone walked to load the bases. Kerri Axelrod then drilled a base-clearing three-run triple to right field and Courtney Famiglietti slapped an RBI single to left-center. The fifth run crossed on a bases-loaded walk to Kaitlin Dargan.

The lead grew to 8-0 in the third. Jen Roberge beat out an infield hit, Carpentier singled to center and Langone dropped an RBI single to right-center. Carpentier crossed on Axelrod's fielder's choice grounder, and Langone came home on a passed ball.

What proved to be the winning three-run rally in the fourth started when Lisa Tisbert reached on a one-out error. Dargan singled and Lisa Sawin drilled a three-run homer to center field.

The home run was Sawin's first and the first for AHS this spring.

Tewksbury made it interesting with two runs in the fourth, four more in the fifth and two in the sixth.

Dargan and Carpentier led the Andover offense with two singles each. Carpentier, Langone and Sawin scored two runs apiece, while Axelrod finished with four RBI and Sawin three.

Nicole Venuti drove in four runs for Tewksbury with a triple and single, Kate Morris was 4-for-4, and Von Kahle belted a bases-empty home run.

The Lady Warriors' keystone combo of shortstop Tisbert and second baseman Taylor Traub played well defensively, as did Redmen second baseman Lauren Bibo.

BOYS VOLLEYBALL

The Andover High boys volleyball team remained tied for second place in Division 1 of the Merrimack Valley Conference following recent wins over Methuen (2-1) and Billerica (2-0).

Those victories, along with a 2-0 loss to undefeated St. Joihn's Prep, left the Golden Warriors at 6-2 overall.

Lowell is also 6-2 while SJP is 8-0.

Schedule

Andover hosted Westford Academy this morning (10 a.m.), and returns to the court next Monday at Lawrence (3:30 p.m.).

Andover 2
Billerica 0

The Golden Warriors had little trouble with winless host Billerica, rolling 15-2 in the first game and completing the sweep with a 15-9 triumph.

"The first game was pretty easy and we coasted through it," said AHS coach George Sullivan. "We got a bit complacent and lost some focus in the second game.

ROUNDUP

"There were a lot of substitutions and that usually throws off the continuity. We were also mixing it up on offense, trying a few slide moves, and that often causes mistakes.

"Overall our serving was stronger, we banged the ball hard and passed well," said Sullivan.

Dave Nichols, who moved back to middle hitter, Ryan Slavin and Ben Mertes had five kills each to lead the balanced attack.

Mike Johnson added three kills, while Kevin Hess and Mertes were the top servers.

Coach Dave Amundsen's AHS junior varsity (5-3) won the prelim, 2-0, with game scores of 15-1 and 15-6.

Leading the effort were Mike Hamilton (hitting, serving), Stu Smilowitz (serving, setting) and Adam Turbett (setting).

Andover 2
Methuen 1

After destroying the visiting Rangers 15-3 in the first game, the Golden Warriors lost the second game in overtime, 14-16, before capturing the third game, 15-10.

"We looked awesome in the first game," said Sullivan. "We totally intimidated Methuen.

"But maybe everything came too easily. We let them back in the match and let them believe they're better than they are.

"Our mental laziness — lack of concentration — became contagious. Everyone left for spring vacation a little early," said Sullivan.

"Methuen out-hustled us in the second and third games. They wanted it more than we did and almost stole the win."

The Golden Warriors committed five service errors, didn't have a service ace, and made an uncharacteristic 15 serve-receive errors to give the Rangers 15 free points.

Dave Nichols, Ryan Slavin and Ben Mertes finished with five kills each. Nichols went 14-for-15 hitting, Slavin 15-for-17 and Mertes 20-for-25.

Mike Johnson and Chris Morrissey were both 10-for-12 hitting, with three and four blocks respectively.

Kevin Hess was 7-for-12 and Kyle McCauley 4-for-4 hitting.

McCauley was a perfect 16-for-16 serving and Mertes 14-for-14, while Johnson went 14-for-16 and Slavin 12-for-14.

Nichols was the top blocker with nine and Mertes had eight.

"It wasn't pretty but it was a win," sighed Sullivan.

The AHS junior varsity rolled to a 2-0 victory in the prelim, winning both games 15-4.

Top players were Adam Turbett, Capt. Alan McLean, George Lewis (serving), Josh Kim (setting) and Stu Smilowitz (setting).

St. John's Prep 2
Andover 0

The Golden Warriors gave the undefeated league leaders from Danvers (7-0) a tough go in the first game, but the Eagles then hit stride to register a 15-12, 15-6 sweep at the Dunn Gym.

"I'm not a 'rah-rah' type of coach," said Sullivan. "My approach is business-like. We want to come to the match well-prepared and execute better than the opponent."

But Sullivan admitted playing the league favorite did create a somewhat more charged atmosphere.

"This match was more emotional. Our kids were pumped."

SJP weathered Andover's adrenalin rush and lived up to advance billing.

"They're an excellent team and they were sharp," said Sullivan. "Hopefully it's a wakeup call for our guys.

"St. Jon's has a 6'8" sophomore who hits hard. They just outgunned us. We kept looking for weaknesses in their lineup but couldn't find any.

"They remind me of our team that went to the state finals a couple years ago. We had height and pounded away and wore people down," said Sullivan.

With SJP's 6'8" presence in the middle, the Golden Warriors managed only four kills and no service aces in the two games.

Andover finished 31-for-36 hitting, 22-for-24 serving and 32-for-37 passing.

"The percentages were OK but we didn't get enough hits or serves in the match," said Sullivan.

Mike Johnson, although not feeling well, finished 8-for-8 hitting with two solo blocks.

Ben Mertes was 9-for-11 hitting with three blocks, and he was also 3-for-4 serving.

Ryan Slavin finished 7-for-8 hitting, with two kills, and was 6-for-7 serving.

Dave Nichols returned to the lineup full-time, playing in the front row and going 4-for-5 hitting with two kills and five solo blocks.

Kevin Hess was 3-for-3 hitting and 4-for-4 serving, Kyle McCauley 4-for-4 serving, Christian Eidem 2-for-3 hitting and 3-for-3 serving, and Jim Newell 2-for-2 serving.

The Andover JVs lost the prelim, 2-1, with Alan McLean and Peter An contributing strong all-around efforts for the locals.

Tryouts for Pony League youth baseball teams are this weekend

Tryouts for the three Andover Pony League youth baseball teams will be held this Saturday and Sunday at the West Middle School freshman field.

In addition to the usual Blue and Gold teams for youngsters ages 13-15 years, a new Andover 13-year-old team is also being formed.

Thirteen-year-old players who try out and are selected will be allowed to play on both the 13-year-old team and Blue or Gold.

A player's age is determined as of Aug. 1, 1999. To be eligible a player must not turn 16 prior to that date.

All 13s are asked to report to the field from 9-11 a.m. on Saturday, while all 14- and 15-year-old players should report from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Times for Sunday's tryout will be announced at Saturday's first session.

For more information, call Joe Iarrobino at 474-0523.

BOYS TENNIS

The Andover High boys tennis team hit the spring vacation week with a perfect 4-0 record following recent Merrimack Valley Conference wins over Billerica (5-0) and competitive Chelmsford (4-1).

The victories stretched the Golden Warriors' league win streak to 102 matches, and left them 222-9 in the last 231 MVC matches and 253-28 overall in the last 281 including non-league and tournament play.

Schedule

Although the AHS boys have a scrimmage match today with Phillips Exeter Academy, they are otherwise idle over the vacation.

Coach Mike Wartman's crew returns to conference play next week at Lawrence (Monday), home against Lowell (Wednesday) and at Central Catholic (Friday) in what should be a first-place showdown (all 3:30 p.m.).

Andover 4
Chelmsford 1

The seven-time reigning league champions received their first real challenge of the season from Chelmsford, which entered the match also unbeaten in league play (4-0).

Junior Capt. Evan Sideman and sophomore Gabe Adams were easy winners at first and third singles respectively, downing the Lions' Chiraag Bains (6-2, 6-1) and Dave Sims (6-1, 6-1).

Charlie Carmeris of Chelmsford wrestled a rare point from Andover when he outlasted sophomore Rich Roda at second singles, winning a first-set tiebreaker 7-5 and completing the sweep with a 7-5 victory in the second set.

Both AHS doubles teams had to work harder than usual for their wins.

Junior Capt. Peter Hughes and freshman Andy Chiaraluce prevailed 6-4, 6-0 over the Lions' Dave Branco and Dan Cohen, while second doubles Jordan Klein and James Kim defeated Greg Cormier and Matt Gagnon 6-3, 6-4.

Andover 5
Billerica 0

The Golden Warriors lost only one game in 10 sets on the way to the sweep.

Recording 6-0, 6-0 singles' sweeps were Rich Roda and Gabe Adams, while No. 1 Evan Sideman surrendered one game in a 6-0, 6-1 cruise past Nick Barrett.

Both AHS doubles teams were flawless, Peter Hughes and Andy Chiaraluce blitzing Mike Yarvitz and Greg Yavanian while Jordan Klein and James Kim whitewashed the Indians' Brendan McGrath and Adam Laferriere.

GIRLS TENNIS

Churning its way through relatively unchoppy Merrimack Valley Conference waters, the Andover High girls tennis team rolled into spring vacation week with a perfect 6-0 record following recent 5-0 whitewashes of Central Catholic, Billerica and Chelmsford.

Bidding for an 11th straight conference title, and 14th in the last 15 years, coach Tony Russo's 1999 squad has extended the Lady Warriors' league win streak through 135 consecutive matches.

AHS is also 208-1 in its last 209 MVC matches and 225-13 overall including tournament play.

Schedule

Andover resumes play next week when it hosts Lawrence (Monday), travels to Lowell for a first-place showdown against the likewise-undefeated Red Raiders (Wednesday), and returns home to battle Notre Dame Academy of Tyngsboro (Friday).

Andover 5
Central Catholic 0

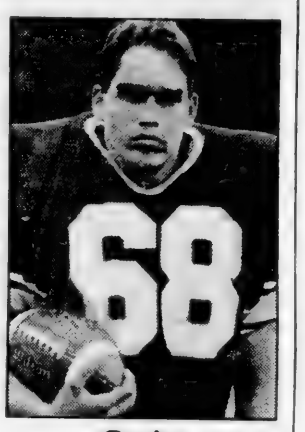

Juniors Jill Oppenheim and Amy Axelrod handled their Raider opponents easily, the former rolling past Jenn Arcabascio 6-0, 6-0 and the latter pounding Stephanie Daly 6-2, 6-0.

The other three matches were also straight-set wins, but with CCHS putting up more resistance.

Andover junior third singles Jenna Bernstein toppled Maura McDonald 6-2, 6-4.

Sophomore first doubles Michelle Leahy and Erin Zuena were 6-2, 6-2 victors over Nicole Panorelli and Karen Salvo, while second doubles Andrea Wegner and Erica Tebbetts battled past Ashleigh Ward and Becky Paine 6-3, 6-2.

AHS football player tapped for annual Coaches Award

Craig Orzechowski

Andover's Craig Orzechowski is one of a select group of 15 Massachusetts high school football players who will receive the 17th annual Coaches Award from the Massachusetts Football Coaches Association.

Recipients are nominated by their coach and are chosen based on their "courage, inspiration and sportsmanship."

Orzechowski was a 5'11", 208-pound senior center/nose guard for Andover's highly-successful 8-2 team last fall.

"Craig is a terrific individual and very deserving of the honor," said AHS head coach Ken Maglio.

Orzechowski and his fellow recipients from throughout the state will be feted this Sunday, April 25 at the annual MFCA Awards Banquet at Lantana's in Randolph.

This is the second prestigious award presented to an Andover High football player this year.

Quarterback/defensive back Rick Johnson was also recently honored by the Gridiron Club of Greater Boston as one of the 'Super 26' All-State All-Stars

Dick Rammacher with a portion of a radon remediation system

Radon Diagnostic Services

For more than 11 years, Radon Diagnostic Services has been providing expert radon remediation systems to homeowners in Andover and its surrounding communities.

Owner Dick Rammacher designs and installs cost-effective remediation systems that permanently reduce radon concentrations to safe levels according to EPA guidelines.

He has worked with radioactive issues since 1971 and said that high levels of radon gas can be very dangerous, and that you can't see it or smell it. Radon is a cancer-causing, radioactive gas that is produced in the soil, and has been linked to thousands of lung cancer deaths: each year. Statistics reveal that more than one-third of homes in the area have radon levels that exceed EPA guidelines.

Mr. Rammacher said that the radon issue usually surfaces in real estate transactions during the home inspection process. If high levels are found resulting from radon testing, the issue must be remedied. He recommends radon testing to be done before homeowners decide to sell their home.

The staff at Radon Diagnostic Services has successfully remediated more than 900 homes with high radon levels throughout northeastern Mass., with many of the homes in the Andovers, and in most cases reducing radon levels by more than 90%. The remediation system used is inconspicuous, takes up a small space, and uses little electricity. Mr. Rammacher said that he is by far the most experienced radon professional in northeastern Massachusetts, and is definitely the person to call.

Dick and his wife Marcia reside in Andover with their daughter Kate. Call Radon Diagnostic Services at (978) 475-1977 for a free telephone consultation and a free home estimate with guaranteed radon reductions.

One Step Ahead

When driving through downtown Andover, you can't miss the sign for One Step Ahead. A landmark above 52 Main Street, this sign has been a fixture for almost as long as the 30 years that the shop has been established.

"One Step Ahead is a full service hair and nail spa where customer satisfaction is the number one priority," said owner Melissa Jones, who has been providing exquisite hair services there since 1987.

Mary Ditore joined her staff more than a year ago, offering manicures and pedicures.

In honor of all the special moms, the shop is offering two Mother's Day specials: a spa pedicure with a scalp massage treatment for $32; and a spa manicure with a scalp massage treatment for $25. Each promotion comes with a take-home gift bag full of hair and nail products.

With Father's Day following, the shop is offering with any hair or nail service, along with a purchased product, a chance for a drawing for a pair of Red Sox tickets.

Proms, graduations, and weddings are coming up and they are the perfect time to book an appointment for a combination hair and nail treatment with Melissa and Mary.

One Step Ahead is located at 52 Main Street, Andover. Hours are Tuesday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Telephone: (978) 475-5913.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
ENERGY FACILITIES SITING BOARD
NOTICE OF ADJUDICATION
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

EFSB 99-3 NICKEL HILL ENERGY, LLC

Notice is hereby given that Nickel Hill Energy, LLC ("Nickel Hill"), P.O. Box 42, Dracut, Massachusetts 01826, has filed with the Energy Facilities Siting Board ("Siting Board") a petition for approval to construct and to operate a natural gas-fired, combined-cycle power plant with a net nominal capacity of approximately 750 megawatts ("MW") in the Town of Dracut, Massachusetts. Nickel Hill is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Constellation Power, Inc. ("Constellation"). Constellation is a subsidiary of Baltimore Gas and Electric Company, Inc., with offices at 250 West Pratt Street, Baltimore, MD 21201.

The Siting Board will review Nickel Hill's filing to determine whether Nickel Hill's proposed power plant will provide a reliable energy supply with a minimum impact on the environment at the lowest possible cost. G.L. c. 164, § 69H. The Siting Board will conduct a public hearing to receive public comment on the proposed power plant. The hearing will be held on Wednesday, May 12, 1999, at 7:00 p.m. at the Dracut High School, 1540 Lakeview Avenue, Dracut Massachusetts.

The site for the proposed project, located entirely in the Town of Dracut, is within the approximately 450-acre site of Brox Industries. The total project site area is approximately 25 acres, including the main facility area adjacent to the Dracut/Methuen line and a two-acre site where the switchyard will be located, approximately 3400 feet west of the main facility. Nickel Hill is currently expecting to lease the project site from Brox Industries. The project site is surrounded on three sides by the Brox quarry, and generally is bordered as follows: on the north by agricultural and forested land, a portion of the Tennessee Gas Pipeline Company system (the "Tennessee Pipeline") and the Asadorian Heights subdivision; on the east by Wheeler Street and the Dracut/Methuen town line; on the south by State Route 110; and on the west by the New England Power Company ("NEP") transmission right of way.

The proposed project's generation equipment will include two gas turbine/generator sets operated in combined-cycle mode, two heat recovery steam generators and a single steam turbine/generator. There will be two stacks that are not expected to exceed 170 feet in height. Ancillary equipment will include a 345 kilovolt ("kV") switchyard, wet mechanical draft cooling towers, a 1.5 million gallon filtered water storage tank, a water treatment system, a 350,000 gallon demineralized (treated) water storage tank, and gas compressor(s) or pressure-reduction facilities (if required).

The plant will be fueled by natural gas, delivered to the site via the Tennessee Pipeline and/or the soon to be completed Maritimes and Northeast pipeline. No fuel oil will be used for the project. Interconnection with either of the gas pipelines will be at the northern edge of the Brox property. For electric transmission, the project will interconnect with an existing NEP 345 kV line located in the NEP right of way. Water intake will be via an infiltration bed located flush with the Merrimack River bottom and a pump house located on a small parcel of Brox-owned land located to the north of Route 110, approximately 300 feet from the Dracut/Methuen line. The water supply line route will extend southwest, along Route 110 and then generally north along the Brox access road and Methuen Street to the site. The wastewater line will be a gravity flow line located in parallel to the water supply line until it reaches Route110. From Route 110, the wastewater will be pumped via a forced-main to and through the Dracut sewer system to the Lowell Regional Wastewater Utility.

The project will use water from the Merrimack River for cooling and process uses. The average annual water use will be 2.8 million gallons per day ("MGD") with a low of approximately 1.9 MGD in the winter and a typical maximum of approximately 3.6 MGD in the summer when using steam augmentation and inlet air evaporative cooling. Under extreme summer wheather conditions of 100°F, a maximum of 4.4 MGD of water would be used. The project will use mechanical cooling towers for steam turbine condenser cooling and other auxiliary cooling loads. The project will be equipped with a noise attenuation package, including indoor acoustical enclosures for the combustion and steam turbines, a building to house the combustion turbines enclosure, the steam turbine and related equipment, and a full building enclosure of the heat recovery steam generators.

Copies of Nickel Hill's petition are available for public inspection at the Siting Board's offices, the Town Clerk's Office in Dracut, the Parker Public Library, 28 Arlington Street, Dracut, the Town Clerk's Office in Methuen, The Nevins Memorial Public Library, 305 Broadway, Methuen, The Town Clerk's Office in Andover and the Andover Public Library, Elm Street, Andover.

Any person interested in intervening as a party or participating as an interested person in this proceeding must file a written petition with the Hearing Officer on or before May 26, 1999. A copy of such written petition must also be sent to counsel for the Project, David S. Rosenzweig, Keegan, Werlin & Pabian, 21 Custom House Street, Boston, MA 02110. In addition, any person desiring further information regarding this Notice, including information regarding intervention or participation in the adjudicatory proceeding, may contact the Hearing Officer at the address below:

Real Estate Evaluation

No slowdown in sight for Andover homes, condos

By Neil Fater

With the sale price of Andover homes continuing to rise, it looks as if the dream of owning an Andover home may have to remain a dream for many.

But the state of Andover's real estate market continues to be a dream-come-true for those selling their residential or commercial property.

Because it is so hard to find a home for less than $200,000, all types of condominiums also are selling well, helping to improve what for the past few years may have been the weakest link in the Andover real estate market.

Town Assessor Bill Krajeski says owners of old apartment buildings that were turned into condominiums are finally seeing their condo prices rise substantially, in part because some people have been priced out of the single-family housing market.

It's no wonder. The median sale price for single-family homes has climbed more than $80,000, just since 1994. While the median price was $232,000 in 1994, the price today is $313,000, says Krajeski.

And finding a house for under $150,000 may be an exercise in futility.

Only eight single family homes sold for less than $150,000 in 1998, while 66 homes sold for more than $500,000.

Obviously, the Andover housing market remains hot, and Krajeski says he sees no slowdown in sight. Potential buyers of $250,000 to $300,000 homes are driving the prices higher by competing for the homes, he says.

"Buyers are bidding against each other, and sending the price up," says Krajeski. "Normally, people set a price and it ends up selling for a slightly lower price."

However, Krajeski doesn't need statistics to let him know the housing market is hot. Although he's increased residential evaluations each of the past two years, he's heard very few complaints from people during that time. That alone is a sign of the market.

When things are booming in the housing market, he says, things are unusually silent in his office, because most people realize the values of their homes are rising faster than the town's assessments.

Last year things were eerily quiet, with only 113 people asking for abatements.

And this year?

"It's still quiet. Even quieter maybe. It's pretty spectacular if you're selling property at the moment," says Krajeski. "The market's stayed strong in all sectors."

Krajeski estimates that, generally speaking, the assessed value of Andover homes is about 84 percent of its market value. Residents and other property owners can find their property evaluations listed in alphabetical order, by owner, in this Andover Townsman special section.

The most popular homes remain existing colonials in the $270,000 range, particularly those with new kitchens. But Krajeski says he's seen people buy an existing home and then sink another $70,000 into it just to have a modern kitchen.

With people continuing to gobble up old homes, some houses in the downtown Chestnut and Summer streets area are beginning to crack the $400,000 mark, he says.

Meanwhile, new homes can sell for twice that, as developers produce sizable structures.

"I'm not sure I've seen anything new that's sold for less than $600,000, and the typical prices are rolling higher and higher," says Krajeski.

While homes in the Andover Country Club area are particularly hot, people are paying big bucks for new homes anywhere in town they can find them, he says.

"One of the unique things about this community is you can go almost anywhere in the community and build a home and get $600,000," says Krajeski. "It doesn't matter here whether you build it in West Andover, you build it by the bypass, or you build it in Ballardvale."

Krajeski says that anywhere a developer builds a subdivision, he or she "stands a very good chance of creating a million-dollar neighborhood."

Condos

With house prices that high, then, it's no surprise there are more people turning to Andover condos than in recent years.

While condominiums built as condos have always done well, Krajeski says owners of units in older buildings that were converted into condos saw the value of their condos plummet during the late 1980s and early 1990s.

Now, that's changing as condos, the slowest climbing Andover real-estate area, has joined the party.

"You're starting to see the conversion units pick up in price," says Krajeski. "Colonial Village cracked the $90,000 mark on a few properties, and a short time ago they were at $50,000.

"Condo sales have been very strong through the last couple of quarters," he says.

But the rise in sale price can be attributed to the rise in the housing market, says Krajeski.

"When they start escalating, it almost means the single family ownership is becoming too expensive (for many people)," he says.

Land

Expensive is the word for describing the cost of Andover land, too. Developers seem particularly interested in buying up tracts of land they could turn, potentially, into one of those million-dollar-per-home subdivisions.

"There isn't a whole lot of (land), and when it sells it sells in huge blocks," says Krajeski.

Recently purchased single lots have sold for $250,000, the cost of a sizable home in many communities. Krajeski says a less-than-one-acre lot on Buttonwood Drive sold this month for about $350,000.

Rents

Because of the good economy and the premium on office and downtown retail space, renting space in Andover is no cheap feat either.

"In particular we're seeing the office

No slowdown in sight

rents climb in the River Road area. Downtown, from what I've seen, it's the same thing. It's tough to find a spot downtown for less than $25 per square foot on the first floor, and sometimes it's more," says Krajeski.

While some people point to the empty new space on Park Street as a sign that the rates can't climb higher, Krajeski says he believes the spaces will be filled, and that owners are just waiting to make sure they get the top rental dollar.

Commercial/Industrial

The building of some new commercial developments, including at least one hotel and another office in the Federal Street area will continue, says Krajeski.

Some building owners are selling their buildings now because they believe the market is nearing the top of its curve, and they believe it's time to make their profit, he says.

"A lot of it is real estate investment at this point," says Krajeski.

The growth in the River Road area will be coming to a close soon, however.

"There's almost nothing left out on River Road (to build on), so the next big area for growth, once again, is Lowell Junction Road," says Krajeski. Although there is land to build on in Southern Andover's Lowell Junction area, near the Wilmington and Tewksbury borders, one problem for development is the poor state of roads in the area.

*Domestic equity mutual funds are those which invest primarily in stocks of US based operating companies. Funds in this universe include only those that are diversified by prospectus. Ryan Financial Special Situations Investment Style is a subset of the Ryan Financial Asset Allocation Composite and is not a mutual fund. It is a time weighted composite of all stocks approved by the firm's investment committee and held in customer accounts. Returns for periods exceeding twelve months are annualized and are net of fees and transaction costs. Past performance does not guarantee future results. Information for the above comparison was provided by Morningstar Principia Pro. These results were achieved during a time of generally rising market prices. Mutual funds are offered by prospectus and subject to the restrictions of the Investment Company Act of 1940 which do not apply directly to managed accounts. The Ryan Financial Special Situations investment style includes all managed accounts in existence for more than one full month and include returns of all terminated accounts. The one year and three year annualized rates of return ending 03/31/99 were 19.50% and 31.07%. The annualized rate of return from 12/31/93 through 03/31/99 is 25.86%.
